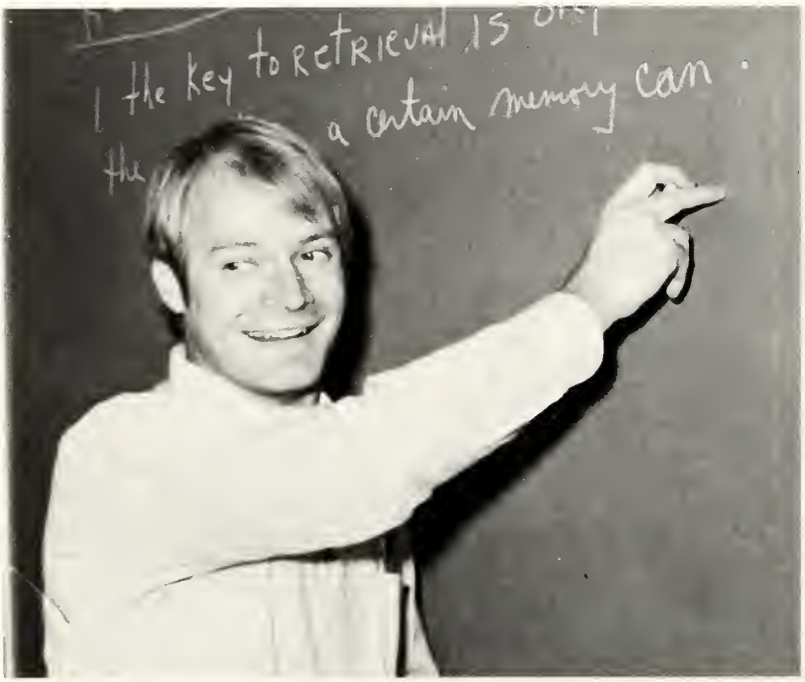
Dedicated To His Profession,
Mr. McGuffey Devotes Himself
To Lindbergh Students



DEVOTING

With a grin on his face, a keen sense of humor, and an eagerness to help others, Mr. Mike McGuffey has become vital in both educating and maintaining high morale among countless Lindbergh students.

Possessing a Bachelor of Arts degree from Drake University and a Master of Education degree from the University of Missouri-St. Louis, Mr. McGuffey has taught Psychology I and II since his arrival here in 1972. Lively lectures and vivid explanations make learning enjoyable and memorable for his students; however, his efforts do not stop at 2:30 or stay within his classroom.

Extra-curricular activities have occupied much of Mr. McGuffey's life since he began his career here. He formerly sponsored the Youth Association for Retarded Children. Serving as senior class sponsor, he plays a major role in organizing Bahamas and Hawaii trips and graduation activities. As a Lindbergh sports enthusiast, Mr. McGuffey supports the water polo and basketball teams as their official score keeper.

Almost all Lindbergh students benefit from Mr. McGuffey's contributions to this school through his involvement with Student Council. As the organization's sponsor, he oversees the school store, Pass and Hangar Dances, blood drive, Snow Queen Dance, and all other Council functions. With Lindbergh's position as Missouri Association of Student Councils President, Mr. McGuffey guided the LHS Council in hosting the 1979 M.A.S.C. Convention.

Lindbergh students, past and present consider this man an exceptional teacher, leader, and friend. With appreciation and respect, the 1979 yearbook staff dedicates the 1979 SPIRIT to Mr. Mike McGuffey.

We come together to develop and define newfound talents while seeking friendship and recognition.

Through our interactions with others, we find harmony.

Through our explorations, we pursue knowledge.

Through our achievements, we attain confidence.

Even though we are part of this mass of faces and names, Lindbergh High School, we are still more than a face in the crowd, a number on a piece of paper.

We are people, achieving independence and maintaining individuality.

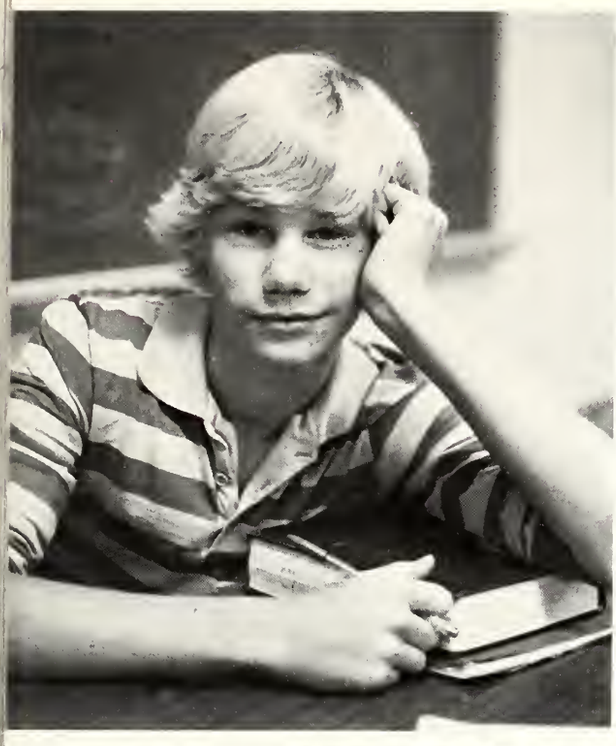
Looking Back 258

Moving along our daily paths, we seek self-improvement and fulfillment.

As individuals, we assume many roles. We extend ourselves into many fields.

Working together, we achieve common goals; yet, we realize that each of us makes our own unique contribution.

EXTENDING

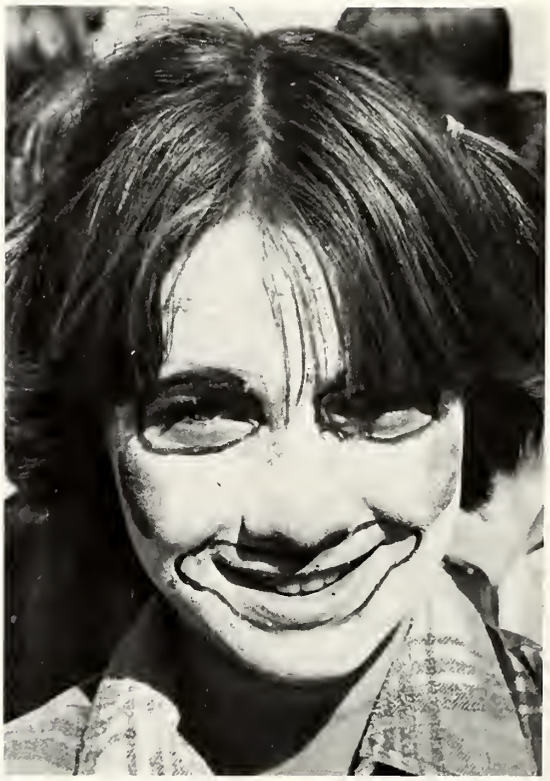


Inspired by the support of others, we test our strengths, talents, and abilities. Through competition, as well as our associations, we enrich our characters.

We learn acceptance and determination from the defeats and gain confidence with the pleasure of victory.

Participation and cooperation help us appreciate our individual accomplishments.

STRENGTHENING



Through our high school years, we gain academic knowledge in our inumerable classes; however, by involving ourselves in outside activities, we seek our identities. Extra-curricular activities give us a chance to be ourselves. Grasping for companionship and security, we reach out to others.

Being a part of the mass crowding onto the floor at the Hangar Dance, painting scenery for the spring play, and receiving that unexpected but wished-for award at Awards Night are expressions of ourselves, our personalities, interests, and desires.

Surviving disappointments, as well as enjoying friends' antics, gives us opportunities to show our individuality as we take part with others.

TAKING PART

A MICKEY MOUSE AFFAIR

Bonfire Brightens Homecoming Victory

The orange flame drew crowds to the north end of the football field. Lighting the bonfire, Lindbergh's first after many years, began the 1979 homecoming festivities on Friday night, October 20. Spirits rose as a Parkway West football player was burned in effigy; Coach Mach introduced the 1979 football team; the pom-pon girls performed to the pep band's accompaniment; and the cheerleaders led the crowd in cheers.

Saturday afternoon, October 21, enthusiastic Flyer fans sang M-I-C-K-E-Y M-O-U-S-E while pom-pon girls disguised as Disney characters danced and balloons floated out of a birthday cake honoring Mickey Mouse's fiftieth birthday. Lindbergh celebrated the anniversary with a thirteen float parade and a 17-7 victory over a previously undefeated Longhorn team.

1. LHS students hope the 1979 Bonfire re-establishes a once-forgotten homecoming tradition. 2. The Lindbergh defense fights for a 17-7 victory over Parkway West. 3. Pom-pon girls attired in ears and Disney character costumes perform white glove routines to the Mickey Mouse anthem played by the Symphonic Band.

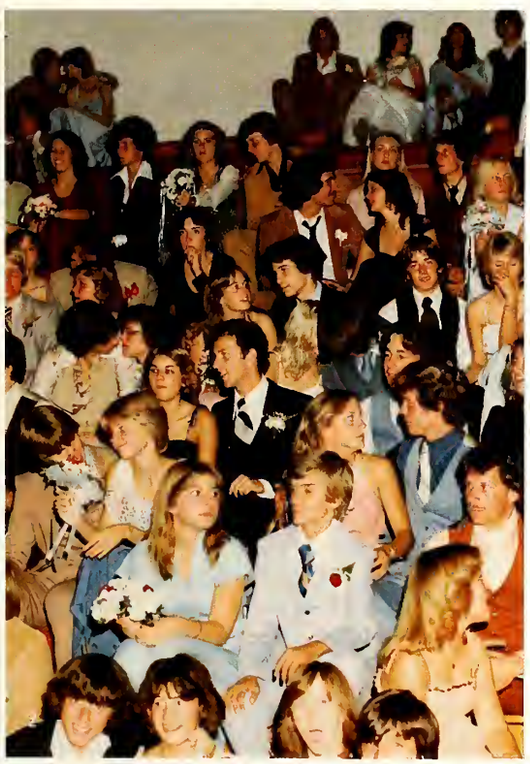
4. The Girls' Tennis Team captures first place honors in the float contest. 5. Float preparation means early Saturday morning work for Student Council members. 6. The half-time show includes introducing 1978 homecoming candidates escorted by varsity lettermen.

Homecoming Victory Celebrated At Spirit Dance

Dim lights, a delicate red rose surrounded by silhouettes on the wall, and the band playing the theme song, "We've Only Just Begun" created the sentimental atmosphere that engulfed couples entering the Commons for the 1978 Homecoming Dance. The October 21st cool evening breeze drifted through the filled room as dancers crowded the floor.

Jay Barry, providing all sorts of music from rock to disco, motivated couples on the dance floor while others enjoyed refreshments prepared by Pep Club members.

Finally, all dancers, taking a break, entered the gym to watch the coronation. Greg Spence and Jill Schanzle introduced court members. The ceremony culminated as the retiring queen and king crowned 1978 royalty, Lori Walter and Kirk Syberg.



1. The 1978 Homecoming Dance attracts over 850 people to the Commons.
2. Taking time out from their dancing, couples await the homecoming coronation.
3. Jay Barry provides a romantic slow song as well as disco music for dancing.
4. Mark Mertens, dancing with Belinda Thurman, is one of many alumnea returning for the dance.

After introducing the maids and knights, the new queen and king were announced and crowned by retiring royalty, Lynn Palecek and Steve Mosier.

1978 Variety Show Creates Student Stardom

Backstage, Raggedy Ann put finishing touches on her rosy cheeks. A Macho Man admired a final flex in the mirror, and cowboys from the Wild West polished guns and clicked spurs. A troupe of Egyptians made their way through the human maze toward the stage.

Finally, house lights went down and last minute preparations ceased as weeks of dedicating and often exhausting rehearsals centered around this one performance.

The curtain rose and the audience discovered "Who's Who." "Grease" was the word for several LHS acts revolving around the popular movie theme. Noteable figures represented included Elvis, Babe Ruth, Doris Day, and Herbert Hoover. During intermission, the audience viewed baby pictures to determine "who was who" among faculty members.

Student talent was combined with direction from sponsors Mr. John Weiss and Mrs. Debra Peppers. Student Directors Mike Heimos, Larry O'Neal, and Sue Walsh helped organize the 300-member cast, the largest in LHS history.

Mrs. Peppers, pleased with all three performances, November 2, 3, and 4 said, "This year was our biggest success."

1. The 1978 Variety Shows owes much success to the time and effort of the faculty sponsors and student directors.

2. Seniors supply the audience with laughs from the antics of the notorious King Family.

3. Linda Weber assists magician Todd Shearer, known in the Variety Show circle as "Who-dini," as he imitates his hero of a similar name.

4. Hooverville sets the scene for LHS students depicting Depression days.

1. Chris Dahl charms admiring saloon girls in "Ragtime Cowboy Joe." 2. Kurt Koenig takes an adventurous journey with "Annie and Andy" through the variety show toy shop. 3. Grease provides the theme for Diane Potter to fall in love with Nick Varsam in "Lance Romance." 4. Colorful characters lament their unequalness as "Short People." 5. In 1940's style, Scott Claymen plays taps as the "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy." 6. Disco dancing girls are impressed by "Macho Man" Scott Smith. 7. Blake Birchfield in "The King and Us" frevently re-enacts Elvis Presley's final performance.

1. Even through a power failure on opening night, Stage Band entertains the audience. 2. Pantomining tree loaders Barb Skaggs and Connie Taggard, keep the show flowing as they stumble from act to act. 3. Diane Clampitt and Chele Erps, inspired by the All-American sport, baseball, honor Babe Ruth. 4. Gun slingers mourn the loss of their women to the horse-loving Cowboy Joe. 5. Steve Martin's creativity in "King Tut" helps 1979 Seniors present their side of Egypt.

FRIDAY NIGHT FEVER

1. Danny Snyder, Carla Brems, and Tim Miles are among the sell-out crowd at the October 6th Hangar Dance.

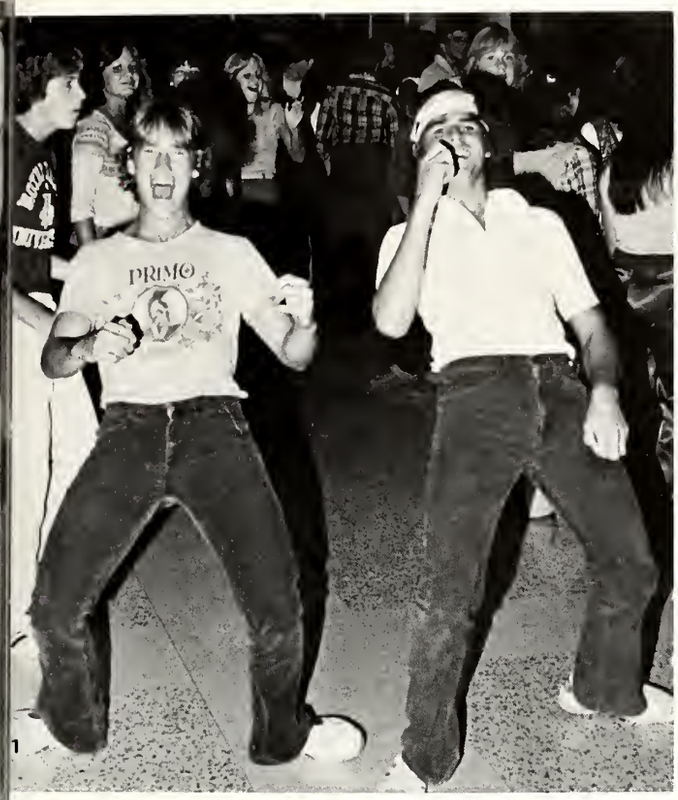
5. Nancy Thias finds "bare footing it" is better.



Hangar And Pass Dances Provide Informal Fun

Crowds of jean-clad people moved to the pulsating beat of the song penetrating the Commons. Popular bands rhythmically filled the Friday night air at the Pass Dance and four Hangar Dances.

Honoring fall athletes and fans who purchased season sports passes, Student Council sponsored the Pass Dance on Friday, September 15 to kickoff the 1978-79 school activities.

For $1.50 a night, Students danced from 8:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. at the Hangars on October 6, December 1, February 24, and April 27. These Student Council-sponsored dances featured the music of Effec, Topaz, and a disco simulation.

At each evening's close, as the final sounds of music filled the air, students piled into cars headed for favorite fast food restaurants. Green and gold jackets swarmed into McDonald's, Pizza Hut, Ruma's, Pizza Inn, and Happy Joe's to quench thirsts, satisfy appetites, and socialize before heading home.

1. The first Hangar Dance gives Blake Hooper and Ken Mueller the chance to perfect their dancing.
2. Jody Marx, Jill Rogers, Scott Reinhardt, Martin Balasus, Stephanie Swallow, and George Morgan find the floor offers the only available seats as the band takes its break on October 6.
3. The informal atmosphere at Hangar Dances makes them popular Friday night activities.
4. Concord Village Pizza Hut provides a favorite gathering place for dancers suffering from post-Hangar hunger.
5. Debbie Held and Midge Heimos bump to the beat of Effec at the Pass Dance.

SNOWFLAKES CREATE FANTASY LAND

Decorations Depict Dance Theme

White flakes, glistening on the ground, appropriately enhanced the mood of the evening for couples attending the 1979 Snow Queen Dance. Surrounded by sparkling silver stars and a back drop glittered with snow-covered mountains, Bob Kuban's Brass serenaded couples with slow, romantic songs, as well as the disco beat. Meanwhile, more decorations, doves flying overhead, murals depicting silhouettes and a multi-colored rainbow, conveyed the dance theme, "A Time for Us."

While some couples danced, others took a break to try the refreshments, punch and dessert, served by the dance hosts and hostesses, Student Council members. At 9:45, all activities closed as couples and parents crowded into Gym III. As lights faded and tension grew, Student Council officers Chris Dahl and Dianna Jungman presided over the coronation. The final candidate was escorted to the stage, and a hush came over the audience. The silence, however, was quickly broken by applause and wild cheers as Sharon Digiovanni was crowned 1979 Snow Queen.

They began the program by announcing the attendants: Teri Diekman, Lori Smith, Cathy Patton, Sue Philipot, Gwen Oxendale, Melissa Newberry, Laura O'Brein, and Janice Schilli. Next, Terri Abernathy, Kim Brennan, Sharon Digiovanni, Mary Miller, Dawn Wagner, and Rhonda Squires were introduced as the maids. As the hosts opened the envelope, silence fell over the audience. Excitement soon erupted as Sharon Digiovanni was crowned the 1979 Snow Queen.

Turnabout Goes Disco

Temperatures rose as couples danced to the disco music spun-off by the Disco Now disc jockey. The 1979 Turnabout Dance brought the theme "Night Fever" alive at Lindbergh on March 31 in the Commons.

Passing through a silver tinsel curtain, couples had a chance to cool off in Cafeteria III with refreshments provided by the pom pon squad and cheerleaders. Dimmed lights relaxed couples while they had a chance to converse about the dance and coronation.

The evening came to a climax at 9:30 with the announcement of the coronation. Emcees Matt DeWeese and Linda Endebrock introduced court members. The ceremony peaked when Carmella Calandro was crowned 1979 Turnabout King.

1. Even a broken arm doesn't hamper Tim Duban's antics at the Turnabout Dance.
2. Linda Endebrock and returning alumnus Greg Garner spin to "Macho Man".
3. Carissa Burgess and Michelle Peterman proudly display their flowers.
4. The disco beat motivates couples on the dance floor in the evening themed "Night Fever".

Couples cleared the dance floor as the hour approached ten o'clock. In only minutes, the 1979 Turnabout King would be crowned. A silent anticipation came over the crowd as announcers Matt DeWeese and Linda Endebrock introduced the nobles: Warren Lipka, Dale Jordan, and Boyd Birchfield. Next, the knights: Kevin McKenna, Jeff Malone, Brian Creath, Kurt Krueger, Carmello Calandro, and Curt Meyer were announced. The crowd came alive when Carmello Calandro was announced turnabout king for 1979.

May 7-11 Marks '79 Spirit Week

Mondays are usually said to be blue, but Monday, May 7 was definitely green and gold at Lindbergh. Students and teachers alike donned the school colors to mark the beginning of Spirit Week. In the classroom, it was hard to tell who was the student and who was the teacher for the two changed places. Faculty members took seats among their pupils as students instructed their classmates.

Your "Sunday Best" was the proper attire for Tuesday, also known as "Dress Up Day". That was also the "Day of the Arts" for students who were entertained by the Madrigal Singers and Stage Band in the Commons during lunch periods.

On Wednesday, seniors proclaimed "It's Better in the Bahamas" via T-shirts bought on spring break trips. Underclassmen used T-shirt Day to advertise their favorite pastimes, rock groups, and philosophies on their favorite shirts also. No outfit was complete without some sort of head-gear. Many students were consistent with the '79 fads as they wore cowboy hats, but "KSHE Pig Caps" and Mickey Mouse ears were also sported by some as they complied with the "Hat Day" theme for Wednesday.

Toes adorned with wacky socks of all designs and colors peeked out of sandals worn by the spirit-minded on Thursday, "Sock Day." An ice cream social provided a welcome break from classes during sixth hour. As a special 2:00 p.m. bell rang, students swarmed to Cafeteria I or the Commons to satisfy appetites and socialize over chocolate, vanilla, and chocolate chip cones.

The writing on the wall was clear on Friday as freshmen through seniors expressed themselves on Graffiti Day. Paper covered the walls and provided writing space in Cafeteria I and the Commons. Grease, the hit movie from 1978, inspired spirited students of the 70's to imitage their predecessors of the 50's. Boys greased their hair and girls came to school with pony tails and poodle skirts.

With the advent of warm weather, students looked forward to a break from the normal school routine. With this in mind, Student Council planned May 7-11, the 1979 Spirit Week.

1. Gwen Oxendale and Ray Ochs go all out by dressing for the occasion on Friday, Grease Day.
2. Hats and T-shirts dominate all spirited people Wednesday.
3. Caught in the act, Lisa Krysal scribbles inspiring mementos across the walls on Graffiti Day.
4. Cafeteria staff aides don amusing hats to join in the spirit on Wednesday.

AN EVENING OF OBSTINACY

Seniors Gain Victory In Donkey B-ball

1979 marked the return of Donkey Basketball to Lindbergh High School. On March 23rd, parents and students filled Gym III to cheer on their favorite teams. Freshmen and sophomores battled for two action-filled periods for the underclassmen championship. The freshmen emerged victorious and advanced to the finals. The second game matched enthusiastic juniors against a mighty senior team. A tie score took the game into overtime with the seniors winning on some questionable plays. In the final game, the seniors beat the freshmen by only a few points.

The best part of Donkey Basketball, however, was watching the players trying to stay on those stubborn animals. The animals were very difficult to ride, but players found it even harder to get back on. Senior Steve Foppe made an unusual play from the sidelines which proved to be the winning basket for his team. Seniors yelled and cheered to show their support and excitement. Students exhibited their class spirit and enjoyed the comedy of the game throughout the evening.

1. Struggling riders find out that getting on the donkeys is a breeze; staying on is the real trial!
2. Brian Will clutches to the ball as an obstinate donkey struggles to prevent him from scoring.
3. Jean Bornholdt and Cheri Correll show their senior spirit as they cheer their team on to victory.
4. With little help from their stubborn assistants, players work to rack up points for their teams.

Night Of Music Attracts Capacity Crowd

At 7:30 on May 1, Mr. Tobler, Lindbergh Music Department Chairman, welcomed a capacity crowd to the eleventh annual Night of Music. The whole music department took part in this four hour program showcasing all of Lindbergh's musical talent.

Concert Band I, the Stage Band, Mixed and Ninth Grade Choirs, the A Cappela Girls' Ensemble, and the Lindbergh Orchestra performed in the first half of the program. The audience heard Broadway hits, classical pieces, marches, waltzes, and barbershop favorites.

The A Cappella Choir, Girls' Concert Choir, Concert Band II and the Symphonic Band were featured in the second portion of the evening. The Madrigal Singers sang and the Jazz-Lab Band played two selections from the Big Band Era. The evening was concluded with the Symphonic Band accompanying the A Cappella Choir in a special arrangement of "America." The proceeds from this musical extravaganza benefited the Lindbergh Scholarship Fund.

1. The Girls Concert Choir entertains friends and parents with selections from The King and I and The Sound of Music.
2. Susan Good finds "The William Tell Overature," required keeping a watchful eye on her music and the director.
3. Concert Band II flute players keep the beat to Mary Poppins.
4. Stage Band's rendition of "Up, Up and Away" is a favorite among LHS audiences
5. Altos from girls concert choir fill Gym I with "The Sound of Music."

Lil' Abner Sparks Enthusiasm

As a sell-out crowd filled Gym I on the windy night of March 1st, the suspense to witness Lindbergh's first musical in many years mounted. The lights were dimmed, the overture was played, and the opening night of "Lil' Abner" was under way.

The curtain parted, and the audience began to enjoy the humorous roles portrayed by a cast of over one hundred. The lead parts included the talent of Curt Meyer as Abner, Lisa Amen as Daisy Mae, Mike Heimos as Marryin' Sam, Matt Bewitt as Pappy Yokum, Jean Bornholdt as Mammy Yokum, and Steve Foppe as Earthquake McGoon. Under the excellent direction of Mr. Bye and Ms. Peppers, the acting and vocal music coordinated beautifully. Mrs. Chow also directed top orchestra and band members to accentuate the musical aspect of the show.

By involving more students than any other drama activity and arousing the interest of the whole school, Lil' Abner proved successful in three performances and re-established a forgotten LHS musical tradition.

1. Warren Lipka, Bruce Keller, Al Fuchs and Brian Creath ponder a life free of work.
2. Lil' Abner takes time out at the fishin' hole.
3. The citizens join in a celebration of Dogpatch.
4. A town girl learns the story of Jubilation T. Cornpone.
5. Mammy Yokum gives advice to Daisy Mae on how to catch Abner.

Twenty-Member Cast Makes Spring Comedy Successful

"If a Man Answers," the 1979 spring play held May 10-12 in Gym I was a comedy about a girl trying to find a husband and her intervening French mother. Chantel Stacey (Rhonda Ferguson) found her spouse in Gene Wright (Steve Foppe), a professional photographer. Her mother, Germarnl Stacey (Diane Potter) a member of the French Follies Bergere, told Chantel the secret of a happy marriage and of her own fantasy love affair to aid her.

The sets added an extra flair with a skylight view and other dramatic effects.

With the help and guidance of Mr. John Weiss and student director Jean Bornholdt, the cast of twenty made "If A Man Answers" an overall success.

RECOGNITION AND REWARDS

Outstanding Students Honored At Awards Night

Many things can happen during the four-year span of high school. Often times, students stay up late to do well on a test the next day, complete a yearbook or newspaper deadline, or plan a banquet or even a convention, and they feel their work goes unnoticed. On Tuesday evening, June 5, 1979, graduating seniors were finally recognized for the many hours they gave to their studies and to Lindbergh during the past four years. Parents, friends, and teachers gathered in Gym III for the presentation of awards for outstanding service ranging from scholarship to athletics. The evening was highlighted with the yearbook dedication to Mr. Mike McGuffey.

Prom Moves Off Campus

Excited couples entered the prestigious Chase Park Plaza on June 1, 1979 for the first prom to be held away from Lindbergh High School in twenty-two years. For twenty-six dollars, the couples were provided with dinner, dancing, and front row seats to the coronation of the prom queen and her court. Dinner, consisting of baked chicken, fruit cup, rolls, salad, and a vegetable, was served at 7:00 p.m. Bob Kuban's Brass provided romantic music, enhancing the prom theme, "Times of our lives." Couples could dance until eleven o'clock. Retiring queen Shelly Merritt crowned an overjoyed Kim Brennan as the new queen. Court maids were seniors Janice Schilli, Dawn Wagner, Amy Burr, and Nancy Parisotto, and one junior, Heidi Walters. Starting a new tradition, each couple enjoyed a special evening at the Chase Park Plaza.

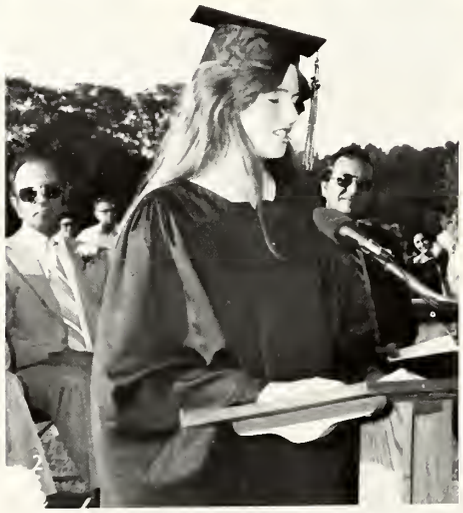
Class Of '79 Leaves LHS

The hearts of 937 seniors and their parents and friends sank as they awoke to find cloudy skies, rain puddles, and wet weather forecasts on Thursday, June 7, 1979. They feared that a rainy day would force the 1979 Commencement Exercises, involving over 2800 people, into a sweltering Gym III. Meanwhile, technicians set up closed-circuit TV in Cafeteria III for the overflow audience.

Suddenly, shortly after noon, rain clouds seemed to drift away. Mr. Jones, Mr. Lenz, and Mr. McGuffey, graduation organizers, happily announced that "all systems were go" for an outside ceremony, and the ground crew hurriedly set up the chairs and stage. The sun miraculously came out to dry up the last puddle by 6:30 when the Class of 1979, proudly wearing green gowns and mortarboards, entered the football field.

Following Superintendent Gray's introduction of the class to the audience, Kay Martin, graduation speaker, challenged her classmates to do well in future endeavors. Karen Prichard, graduation speaker, emphasized in the response that the Class of '79 was great. Dr. Pridy then presented the candidates for graduation to Board of Education President Mr. Walter Solovic who awarded their diplomas.

Mixed feelings of joy and sorrow filled parents and graduates alike as they breathed a sigh of relief and realized that it was time to say good-by to LHS. At 7:41, Mr. Jones, twelfth grade principal, officially dismissed the Class of 1979 for the final time.



1. Mr. Haeger, a 26-year LHS faculty member, awards his daughter Ellen her diploma.
2. With the final presentation of a diploma, the Class of '79 shows its jubilation.
3. As Mr. Jones dismisses the class for the last time, they rush to congratulate each other.
4. As school board president, Mr. Solovic presents Julie Toler with her diploma and congratulates her.
5. Dr. Pridy assists Mr. Solovic as Mary Ellen Steck receives her diploma.
6. Mike Nix pauses to think about this momentus occasion and the future.

OPPOSITE PAGE:
1. Cheryl and Kim Kennamann find bobby pins are a must to keep on a mortarboard.
2. Kay Martin issues the Challenge to her classmates.
3. On behalf of the graduates, Karen Prichard responds to the Challenge.
4. Together as usual, the Kruegers receive their diplomas.
5. Uncertainty of the future causes graduation jitters for '79 seniors.

Each day, we go from class to class learning the same grammar rules, historical facts, and mathematical theorems that countless other students learn. How we express ourselves is the thing that differentiates us from these other people. We turn to the after-school clubs to demonstrate and expand our interests.

Becoming involved may mean endless hours after school working on the homecoming dance; staying up until 2:00 a.m. to complete a yearbook deadline; or driving miles and miles, going from store to store to find just the right prop for a variety show act.

By working with others, we learn the meaning of cooperation, organization, and friendship. As we join in with others to achieve our common goals, expressing our talents and interests shows that each person is an individual unlike anybody else.

JOINING IN SPIRIT STAFF

The advent of sixth hour produced a relieving sigh for most LHS students as they looked forward to the last class of the day. However, it was just a beginning for the students in room 122. Every day brought a new challenge (or cirsis!). Whether they were planning a layout for the opening section, hustling to get those needed pictures developed, reaching for the white-out, or deep in concentration, thinking of copy for that last page in the deadline, the SPIRIT staff was always working to complete the 1978-79 yearbook.

Yet, work didn't stop after the 2:20 bell rang. Staff photographers spent endless after-school hours covering sports, clubs, and activities, staff members followed up on numerous school events to get accurate information; the business staff prepared selling campaigns and gave up many a lunch hour making sure things worked out right for the deadline.

Under the dedication and invaluable leadership of Ms. Jane Kerlagon, sponsor, the staff worked hard to represent the thoughts, feelings, and activities of the entire LHS student body, while they also put together a permanent record of faces, names, and school life.

PILOT STAFF

Frantic attempts to write copy and compose headlines, late nights after school, and missed lunches on sale days typified the lives of 1978-1979 Pilot staff members.

Editors met sixth hour every day to work on the problems of laying out the variety show page, proofreading the Christmas Wishes and training their successors. Meanwhile, Miss Turpin, Pilot sponsor, advised the staff on correct journalism procedure.

Student journalists interested in school news, sports, activities and controversial issues worked as reporters, and wrote features and editorials.

Attending workshops at the National Journalism Education Convention in November helped the staff produce six successful issues. Breaking from tradition, the Christmas issue proved more popular than the Variety Show; however, the senior issue remained a favorite.

KLSR - 89.7 FM

An anxious D.J. adjusted his headphones and pulled his microphone close. He dropped a record on the humming turntable. A motion from the engineer signaled the music . . . KLSR was on the air!

The LHS radio station, 89.7 FM made many improvements by expanding their programming four times over their previous operating years. The biggest expansion included greater live coverage of basketball games. KLSR was also a member of the National Student Broadcasting Association.

Although the 40-member club met only twice a month, individual broadcasters were on the job daily preparing broadcasts. The crew was aided by sponsors Mr. Lischer and Ms. Hall. Student officials included Station Manager Steve Wells, Program Director Ryan Zimmerman, Technical Director Brent Horine and Executive Producer Dave Barber.

In providing music and educational news for all of Lindbergh School District, KLSR proved itself to be a valuable form of the media.

National Honor Society

The group of honor students filed into Gym III and took their seats as proud parents looked on in anticipation of the ceremony which was about to begin. By fulfilling the National Honor Society requirements of outstanding character, leadership, service, and scholarship, 250 students became qualified and were initiated into the Lindbergh Chapter of the National Honor Society.

Besides living up to N.H.S. standards fairs, and maintenance of top grades (3.5 for sophomores, 3.2 for juniors, and 3.0 for seniors), society members had to play active parts in N.H.S. activities. Members conducted their annual toy and clothing drive at Christmas and joined Pep Club to sponsor the donkey basketball game in March. These activities and tutoring services helped the honor society uphold its tradition of scholarship and service to the school and community.

QUILL & SCROLL

Eight candles standing for truth, leadership, learning, initiative, judgment, integrity, loyalty, and friendship lit the faces of the twenty-four new initiates as the sponsors, Ms. Kerlagon and Ms. Turpin addressed the group, "You have been chosen for membership into Quill and Scroll, an honorary society for high school journalists, on the basis of your outstanding contribution to the newspaper, yearbook, or radio station . . . " Illustrating exceptional achievements in writing, announcing, and production of their areas of the media, Spirit, Pilot, and KLSR staff members and editors also had to maintain at least a 3.0 grade point average to become Quill and Scroll members.

At the annual banquet on March 29, 1979, new members received membership cards and pins as they were installed. The organization's main social function ended as Mr. Leutwiler, sponsor, congratulated new Quill and Scroll members. Their work, however, was far from over, for, as Lindbergh's journalists, their main duties were to work on their respective staffs.

CREATIVE WRITING, LYCEUM, AND FORENSICS TEAM

Developing outstanding skills in the communication arts is a necessity in a world inhabited by other people. Lindbergh extracurricular activities reflected students' interests in this field.

Those interested in the written word found the Creative Writing Club provided the opportunity to present their work to other amateur writers. Club discussions and the sponsor's (Mr. Stuhlmann) direction helped these writers polish their work.

Lyceum explored the world of literature, art, and film. Guest speakers discussed contemporary issues with members who also attended the Frankenstein presentation at Loretto-Hilton.

Members of the Speech and Debate Team and the Forensics Team met after school to perfect their public speaking skills. They subsequently used these in inter-scholastic tournaments with other area schools.

Through participation in these after-school clubs, students interested in the language arts enhanced their communication skills.

DRAMA CLUB, THESPIANS

Budding actors and actresses, as well as industrious stage crew members, showed their interest in the theater arts by not only participating in several performances but by also joining Drama Club. Membership evolved around interest in Lindbergh's stage productions; 1978-79 members took active roles in the variety show, Li'l Abner, and If a Man Answers. Presenting Lindbergh's first musical and the enthusiastic guidance of sponsors Mrs. Peppers and Mr. Weiss increased interest and made Drama Club more active in 1978-79 than it had previously been. Members culminated the year with a banquet and awards presentation in May.

Drama Club's success was reflected in the increased number of members who qualified for Thespian Society. Students who took part, either on stage or behind the scenes, in drama activities received points for their participation. With the accumulation of ten points, a student became eligible to join this honorary drama organization. Li'l Abner was credited with sparking greater interest in this organization also.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The fifth hour bell beginning classes sounded; students ran quickly to Psychology or to grab a brief lunch. On B Days, though, 75 Student Council members gathered in Rooms 6 and 8 to discuss upcoming events which would benefit Lindbergh students.

Council was again kept busy by the traditional Snow Queen Dance, Hangar Dances, Heart-O-Grams and selling senior jerseys. But, 1978-79 brought many new and useful things to the student body. The Homecoming Bonfire, held on October 21, 1978, the Faculty Breakfast, new student reception, and secret pals were new additions. The council joined other clubs to buy a new sound system for the gym.

After a successful campaign for Missouri Association of Student Councils president, LHS members hosted the 1979 MASC convention in March.

Students from around the state visited our school where helpful and potential ideas were shared and taught to fellow Council members in the state.

SCHOOL STORE

The 11:45 bell rang. The Student Council member raised the sliding curtain over the opening for the School Store and was greeted by students wanting to buy supplies from rulers to felt writers. The Student Council sponsored store stocked pens, pencils, notebooks, and even paperback novels and classics. Individuals having a high amount of school spirit even found LHS banners and gym bags.

PEP CLUB

Whether baking dozens of cookies for the football team, working numerous hours on the Homecoming float or just rooting for the Flyers at swim meets, Pep Club members did much to unite the student body and promote spirit at Lindbergh.

Spirit ran high during Pep Club's busiest season, the Homecoming. In addition to sponsoring the Spirit Dance, Pep Club organized and presented the half-time floats and court ceremonies during the Homecoming football game.

In the spring, Pep Club joined with National Honor Society to organize and sponsor the donkey basketball game.

Hard-working members were recognized and rewarded with letters at the annual Pep Club banquet.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE CLUBS

Whether playing soccer, visiting the Magic Pan Creperie, or feasting on sauerbraten at an international dinner, Lindbergh's foreign language club members familiarized themselves with and enjoyed the customs of far away cultures. Besides pursuing their own interests, the Spanish, Russian, German, Latin, and French Clubs collaborated for several projects, an international soccer tournament, and dinner in 1978-79.

Although small, the Spanish Club, sponsored by Mrs. Vires and Mr. Sanchez, defeated all the other foreign language clubs by out-kicking them in the clubs' soccer tournament on October 20.

Russian Club, sponsored by Mr. Kremenesky, also joined in the game. By participating in the Foreign Language Dinner on February 17 and the soccer tournament, the club kept very active throughout the year.

Sponsored by Mrs. Voss, the German Club not only learned about the German culture, but they also went to an Oktoberfest, Christmas caroled, and held a German dinner on December 15.

Increased membership over previous years showed the growing popularity of Latin Club. Studies centered around the Latin civilization throughout history. Club members, aided by their sponsor, Mr. Jump, also participated in the soccer tournament and Foreign Languages Dinner.

French club's many activities in 1978-79 made it popular and the largest of the foreign language organizations. With Mrs. Gleich's and Mrs. Reiter's guidance, the club's members dined on French cuisine and entertained each other amidst a sidewalk cafe atmosphere at the annual French dinner on November 17. The club wished fellow students a joyeux Noel by caroling in the halls at Christmas. Like their counterparts of other countries, French Club members also took part in the soccer tournament and international dinner.

CAREER CLUBS

Looking toward the future, many students used their afterschool hours to investigate possible careers. By joining career-oriented organizations, students could hear guest speakers tell the stories of their occupations. Participants not only learned about various jobs, but they also were advised on courses to take and schools to attend in preparation for these.

Future Business Leaders of America, sponsored by Mrs. Nauert gave students interested in business a chance to view various aspects of this field. Activities and discussions about business-related careers led to a better understanding of the business world.

Whether students planned futures in medicine or just had a vague interest in the field, Future Medical Careers provided the opportunity to explore various medical careers. Sponsors Mr. Merryman, Mrs. Hall, and Mrs. Vollmar provided guidance and scheduled guest speakers from different health and medical occupations.

Through first hand experience, other LHS students gained a better insight into their future in teaching and educational fields. With the aid of sponsors, Mrs. Gleich and Mrs. Reiter, club members were encouraged to view various educational levels. During the year, members observed classes, heard speakers, and participated in on-the-job cadet teaching.

Other students turned their fascination with machines into first-hand knowledge by joining Computer Club. This organization, sponsored by Mr. Bungenstock, provided insight into data processing careers. Club activities included writing computer programs and taking field trips to computer installations.

By not only studying the systems of government in a democracy, but by also running their own mock government, Youth and Government Club members gained an understanding of the United States political systems. Under Mrs. Summa's and Mr. Blandford's direction, they debated issues, passed bills, and voted on legislation.

FUN AND FASCINATION CLUBS

The 2:20 bell signaled the end of classes for the day; however, that was not the end of learning. Students interested in furthering their knowledge of subjects covered in classes or exploring new fields, found these needs satisfied by participating in after-school clubs.

The Biology Club, sponsored by Mr. Harty; the Advanced Biology Club, sponsored by Mr. Pourchot; and the Chemistry Club, under Mr. Smith's direction; investigated, in more depth, subjects touched on in science classes. Meeting on alternate Wednesdays and Thursdays, these scientists worked on various laboratory projects including chromotography, histology, and chemical analysis.

Astro Club members increased their knowledge of the universe under the sponsorship of Mr. Lischer. The outer hemisphere, gases, astrology, and space were favorite topics of exploration for the organization.

Trying to stimulate LHS student awareness of and action about the ecological world was the Environmental Problems Club objective in 1978-79. With Mr. Eason's guidance, club members opposed the Meramec Dam Issue (damming the Meramec River to create a recreational lake) and participated in a marathon walk for wolves.

After school practice sessions were a necessity in 1978-79 for the Chess Club which faced stiff opposition. Wednesdays were chess afternoons for both the club members and sponsors, Mr. Kettler and Mr. Boehmer. Despite competing against such tough opponents as Mehlville and Affton, the Chess Club maintained a good record.

Whether one's fascination was the art of chess or the science of the universe, after-school clubs provided the opportunity to increase the student's interest of and involvement in the subject of his choice.

LETTERMEN CLUB

Although they were most often seen on the playing field, in a meet or game, or working out, Lindbergh's varsity athletes were also easily identified outside their sports endeavers. Two hundred varsity athletes proudly wore sweaters and jackets displaying "L's" that reflected their hard work and achievement. As members of the Lettermen's Club, these athletes manned the concession stand at LHS sports events. They sold soda, pop corn and candy to help support the athletic department. Their profits bought new equipment for various teams.

Football players, swimmers, and gymnasts organized to set membership standards for fellow athletes pursuing varsity letters during 1978-79. Coaches Mach, Bee, and Jaworski advised and assisted club members in these and other school-related projects throughout the year.

SYNCHRONIZED SWIM

Under the patient direction of Ms. Buckner, Synchronized Swim Club enjoyed an exciting season. Their annual water ballet presentation in the Gym Pool was entitled "It's a Small World." Based on an international theme, the girls gracefully performed water acrobatics to music from Japan, Scotland, Rumania, Netherlands, the American Indians and the U.S.A. The swimmers designed their own costumes, selected their own background music, and devised their own routines.

The girls working alone or in groups, this time consuming show required a lot of patience and practice. They rehearsed on Tuesday evenings and Saturday mornings to prepare. Skill, stamina, and many hours of practice were necessary for graceful execution of movements. Perseverence was rewarded with an excellent exhibition of talent at the Synchronized Swimmers main event, their spring show.

WRESTLETTES, CO-PILOTS, TRACK TIMERS

Enthusiasm and an interest in sports guided girls to membership in the Wrestlettes, Co-Pilots, and Track Timers organizations. They assisted the teams of their choice by helping set up equipment for meets and keeping accurate records of player and team accomplishments. These sports-minded girls found their time and talents were appreciated by the wrestling, cross country, and track teams of 1978-79.

SYMPHONIC BAND

Following exceptional bands from past years, the 1978-79 Lindbergh High School Symphonic Band once again upheld its high reputation. Each day, during second hour, Mr. Brunner met with the band to prepare for numerous performances throughout the year.

Besides the annual Winter Concert, Spring Concert, and football games, the group attended several special events during the year. By invitation, the band performed at the new Crestwood Community Center for a standing-room-only audience. Also, the band consistently received top ratings at the Annual St. Louis Suburban Music Educators Association Festival. Lindbergh was honored by being the only high school band invited to play for the Music Educators National Conference Southwest Division at Colorado Springs; however, the distance prohibited the trip.

Countless hours of practice made the Symphonic Band one of the school's most popular, as well as largest, performing groups.

ORCHESTRA

Musicians arranged music stands, leafed through pages of notes and treble clefs, and adjusted instrument mouth pieces. Soon, Gym II was filled with sounds of oboes, bassoons, flutes, and violins tuning up for the evening's performance. As faculty director, Mrs. Chow, approached the podium, the musicians and audience alike grew silent. She raised her baton and the gym exploded with music. After hours and hours of rehearsals, the Christmas Concert, featuring the Lindbergh High School Orchestra, was underway. Besides presenting pieces from Handel's Messiah, the group also joined the A Cappella Choir to offer traditional holiday favorites for the audience's enjoyment.

Spring brought two more major performances. The seventy-five member orchestra shared the stage with fellow music groups to present the Spring Concert, May 22, 1979. Presenting songs to earn dollars for scholars, the Orchestra also appeared at the Night of Music (a night devoted to earning profits for the Lindbergh Scholarship Fund.)

Orchestra members, officers, and the director alike all devoted many hours to rehearsals, but they felt the satisfaction received after a successful performance made their efforts worthwhile.

JAZZ LAB, STAGE BAND

Trying to achieve the "big band sound" of an earlier era, LHS students collaborated to form the Stage Band. Likewise, musicians interested in the jazz era of music joined forces to form the Jazz Lab.

Both groups appeared in the Senior Christmas Assembly. They exhibited their talent in traditional yuletide numbers; however, they impressed the audience most with the Jazz Lab's version of "Gonna Fly Now" from the movie Rocky. The Spring Concert was a second occasion for both groups to display their musical skills.

Although the two groups did make dual appearances, individual presentations were also important performances. The Stage Band provided pre-show and intermission entertainment for the 1978 Variety Show audience.

Classroom, as well as after-school sessions, gave these musicians experience as they also received extended training from Mr. Tobler.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

The 1978 fall was a busy one for the A Cappella Choir and its directors, Mr. Bye and Mrs. Vaughn, as they prepared for their first concert. Performing on December 14 was the earliest date the sixty-five member choir ever gave a concert.

Joining the Orchestra, the A Cappella Choir presented its annual Christmas Concert of carols, hymns, and selections from the Messiah. Selected members performed at the small group and solo festival and the entire choir sang for the large group festival.

Broadway musicals served as the theme for the Spring Vocal Music Concert. The A Cappella Choir was featured in selections from such favorites as Annie, A Chorus Line, and The Wiz.

The A Cappella Girls' Ensemble added a new dimension to the organization in 1978-79. Select girls were chosen from the main choir to perform for area clubs and organizations. They also joined the Madrigal Singers and Choir in several appearances.

Finally, performing for the 1979 seniors, parents, and friends at graduation exercises in June culminated one of A Cappella's busiest years.

MADRIGAL SINGERS

The Madrigal Singers, a carefully chosen group of performers from the A Cappella Choir, combined to render a unique, well-blended sound in their numerous presentations. The twenty vocalists, directed by Mrs. Vaughn, sang in the Christmas and Spring Concerts, in addition to appearances at community womens' and church organization meetings. The group's year was highlighted when it received good ratings in the judging at the March 13, 1979 small group festival.

NINTH GRADE CHOIR

Directed by Mr. Bye and Mrs. Vaughn, Lindbergh's Ninth Grade Choir boldly met their first year at the high school level. Hard work and more difficult music than the singers had previously encountered faced the freshmen as they conditioned themselves for Mixed Choir and, hopefully, the top choir, A Cappella. Their two concerts, Christmas and Spring, proved the group's progress. Public appearances and endless practices prepared the choir for higher levels of musical achievement.

MIXED CHOIR

Mr. Bye raised his hand; a silence fell over the group of sixty. Suddenly, the sopranos hit a high F and the altos reached down to a low C. The 1978-79 Mixed Choir busily prepared for their Christmas concert. Sophomore through senior singers combined their talents to produce two major performances, the Christmas and Spring concerts. Joining the Ninth Grade Choir, the Mixed Choir presented secular, as well as lighthearted, seasonal favorites at the Christmas Concert. This vocal group later united with all other Lindbergh choirs to entertain parents and friends at their annual Spring Concert.

Specially selected singers from the larger group comprised the Mixed Choir Ensemble. Interested in furthuring their musical participation, these vocalists performed individually in the choir concerts. The ensemble, as a group, was judged at the annual small group festival at Florissant Valley Community College on March 13.

Greater experience in the vocal music field and a better blend in sound were the results of these organizations' diligent efforts.

Sixth hour brought the Girls' Concert Choir to the band room for practice with Mrs. Vaughn. The forty-member choir consisted of sophomores, juniors, and seniors specially selected to perform music written for treble voices.

The Concert Choir performed at the Vocal Music Department's second Christmas Concert and in the annual combined Spring Concert. With an abundance of music for three part women's voices, the Girls Concert Choir was able to choose selections suited for their ability and outstanding choral sound.

Through sports, we develop physical strengths and talents along with a sense of pride and new friendships. We devote seemingly endless hours to practice sessions in the blistering sun. We get up before the crack of dawn to get to the pool or the gym for an early morning practice before school. We run miles and miles through sleet and icey slush so we can stay in shape for next season.

We put ourselves through these exercises so we can be winners, but winning does not mean just the numbers on the scoreboard. It refers to the satisfaction we get from doing a job well. However, this, in turn, depends on our own individual efforts as we work out.

FOOTBALL Flyers Tie For First Place Finish

Finishing with seven wins and only two losses, the 1978 Flyers tied with Parkway West for first place in the Surburban West division. In addition, only eight points separated the team from having a perfect season. While the offense, led by quarterback Dave Mach, gained an impressive 2,000 yards, the strong Flyer defense allowed their opponents only 7.1 points per game.

The '78 Homecoming game matched the Flyers against the Parkway West Longhorns in the race for the division championship. The LHS Flyers emerged victorious over their opponents with a score of 17-7. At this point in the season, they took sole possession of first place. Their hopes of reaching the state playoffs were later crushed with a disappointing loss to Kirkwood.

The team's most valuable players were honored at a dinner on November 29th in Cafeteria III. The guest of honor, Missouri University Head Coach Warren Powers, was the featured speaker.

The banquet concluded with the presentation of awards to outstanding players Greg Rice, Andy Gladstone, Dave Mach, Chris Hageman, Scott Becker, Kurt Krueger and Kerry Krueger.

Determination Leads To Fifth State Title

Filled with determination, the 1978 Lindbergh Cross Country Team emerged undefeated and once again achieved their final goal. With four consecutive state titles behind them, the intense drive to win again resulted in a fifth state championship. State was not their only success, however, for Brian Blackford added to the winnings with the individual running title.

"You don't win on skill alone; you win on desire, drive, and tonicity," stated Cross Country Coach Tom McCracken. Because the team was determined to win the title, they united and became an unbeatable force. Phil Hoffman and Brian Blackford, the most valuable runners, toughened up toward the end and led the team to victory," McCracken added. "They didn't lose because they wouldn't let anyone beat them. The whole team believed inside that they were going to win."

Lindbergh became "the team to beat," and even the toughest opponents, McCluer North, Parkway, and Herculaneum could not end the cross country team's winning streak. Lindbergh sophomores supported the team, while the juniors and seniors used their skill and experience to beat the competition. For Lindbergh's cross country team and Coach McCracken, 1978 was a fantastic season.

Thirteen Girls Enter New LHS Sport

In the first season at Lindbergh, Girls' Cross Country set an excellent example for future aspiring runners. Though not large in numbers, the girls strove hard to improve throughout the season.

Thirteen girls bravely entered into a new field in women's athletics. Although she was a coaching novice, Ms. Kimker worked to the best of her ability at guiding and training the girls so they were ready for competition. The team started their season by placing 4th at the Northwest Invitational. Other good performances came at the Hazelwood Invitational and Ladue Invitational with a third place. The team finished the season with a second place at the Metro Invitational. The achievements the team made in their debuting season promised success in seasons to come.

Accurate passing, powerful shooting, and superb netminding led the Lindbergh girls' soccer team to an undefeated season in 1979 league play. With the excellent coaching of Ms. Pressler, the girls made their third soccer year the most successful yet. The skills of Helen Heilich, the most valuable player, and the rest of the team brought them the 1979 Suburban West Conference Championship.

Ms. Pressler said that the team greatly improved since their first year. She was especially impressed with the tryouts. Fifty to seventy girls turned-out and the interest suddenly boomed. This interest and enthusiasm continued throughout the season as the girls worked hard to a 13 and 1 overall record.

Although the squad had only six members this season, the Lindbergh Boy's Gymnastics Team had one of it's most successful seasons in some years. The team's winning year was attributed to the hard work of Coach Dell and the time and effort each member put into practices and competitions.

After school the gymnasts worked on the horse, parallel bars, and rings to perfect their routines which they performed at meets throughout the area. Their numerous wins helped the Lindbergh Gymnastics Team capture second place in conference. The team's small number of participants was offset by their enthusiasm and hard work which brought success.

Girls Form Large, Enthusiastic Team

GYMNASTICS

A beautiful, difficult, and increasingly popular sport among high school girls in the 70's was gymnastics. Girls at Lindbergh proved the sports' popularity by forming one of the largest teams in the Surburban West Conference.

The LHS team was successful as well as great in number and enthusiasm. Under Coach Miller's watchful eye, the gymnastics perfected their skills on the uneven bars, vaulting horse, balance beam, and in floor exercises. More advanced teammates created and performed their own routines. They showed their strength by winning the season's first three meets and later taking easy victories over Webster Groves and Parkway South. The Flyers achieved top scores in every area of competition against these two opponents.

The Varsity Water Polo Team met with great success in 1978-79. Coach Cox attributed this to the tremendous determination of each team member. The team was led by its most valuable player, John Ballance, and the captains, Bruce Spinzig and Don Schmitz. Jay Jackson, Mike McGinnis, and Kurt Schultz were other outstanding individuals. The team showed its strength in decisive wins over St. Louis University High School, University City High, and Ladue.

The Junior Varsity Team also had tremendous success, becoming the 1978 Junior Varsity District Champions. Although the teams will be without the coaching of Coach Frank Cox in 1979, he believed they would again emerge victorious.

The 1979 Boys' Swimming Team proved itself as a real St. Louis area power house in dual meet competition. With forty swimmers, Lindbergh overpowered its opponents. To provide more pool time, Coaches Frank Cox and Richard Dell held two practice sessions every day during the season. This extra time helped strengthen the team into one of the best in the state.

Tri-captains John Ballance, Brett Berri, and Mike Rosin, along with Kelly Lovera and John Lundstrom, led the team to its many victories. Season highlights included a first place in the Parkway North Relays, and second in the Suburban West Conference. The team successfully completed their season with no defeats and a third place finish in the state finals.

VOLLEYBALL

Winning Season Ends In Disappointment

Although individual talent led the 1979 Girls' Volleyball Team to a winning season, they were disappointed in the end. Boasting a 12-3 record, the team placed first in their conference. After capturing the second place spot in the league tournament, the girls met defeat in the regional semi-finals.

Excellent spiking by Judy Sullivan led the team, while Denise Foerstel's serving offered support.

In summing up the season, Donna Morgner commented, "We had the most talent we've had in a long time — enough talent to be great, but we didn't work together enough as a team."

Although the Girls' Field Hockey Team encountered many tough opponents, they were able to finish the season with an outstanding record of 8 wins, 7 losses, and 3 ties. Co-captains Mitzie Malone and Jean Kirk led their team to an exceptional victory over previously undefeated rival, Villa Duschesne, 3-2.

As interest in field hockey grew, Missouri held its first state tournament. LHS reached the second round but was disappointingly defeated by Bayless, 1-0.

The first All Conference Team honors went to Jean Kirk, and second All Conference Team honors went to Mitzie Malone.

J. V. also had a successful season. Coach DePorter felt the 1978 season ended successfully and expressed optimism for the 1979 season.

WRESTLING

Matmen Prove Superior In Tournament Action

Initiating early morning practices before the school day's start moved the '78-'79 wrestlers to an impressive 10-4 dual meet record and several outstanding tournament performances.

The varsity matmen impressively defeated Fox, 49 to 2. Another noteworthy victory came with their 54 to 6 victory over Kirkwood.

Flyer wrestlers' tournament performances exhibited their superiority over opposing schools. Lindbergh had four champions, four second place finishers, one bronze medalist, and two fourth place wrestlers in the Mehlville Tournament. Five finalists, including two individual champions enabled Lindbergh to take a first place at the Lafayette Invitational. After a second place finish in the Parkway Central tournament and third at Hazelwood, the team finished with a fifth place in their conference tournament and captured a first in District.

The wrestlers were also able to boast of individual accomplishments. Keith Zesch (heavyweight) finished first in two tournaments, while Mark Farwell (119 pounds) finished first in three. Mike White (126 pounds) and Dan Badock (185 pounds), each winning four first place tournament victories, led the team through an exceptionally fine season.

Coach Mehrhoff of the JV team was pleased with his team's performance also. They attained an 8-1-1 record to finish third in their conference.

Opening the season with only two wins and six losses, the success predicted for the basketball Flyers looked doubtful. However, the team, led by one of the most outstanding conference centers, Senior Captain Jeff Boemer, overcame their problems to finish the season with a 15-9 record. Achieving this, they shared the Suburban West Conference championship with the Kirkwood Pioneers.

The basketball success was also due to the real boost which outstanding players, Rick Reed, Chris Hutson, Brad Macko, and Dave Herbert gave the team in the closing games. Mr. Donald Bee, in his first year as varsity coach, claimed satisfaction with his team's success and he expressed high hopes for a more experienced squad in 1980.

The Varsity Girls' Basketball Team maintained their winning tradition at Lindbergh. Season accomplishments included a 17-9 record. The girls hard work and victories earned them a fourth place spot in the Visitation Tournament at Christmas, second place in their league tournament, and a second place finish in the Suburban West standings. Mary Rathgeber, Margaret Graff, and Lori Smith were the basis for a strong team that went on to win the regional tournament. At State, Lindbergh bowed out in the first round. But, overall, the girls' basketball season proved successful for the Lindbergh team.

Boasting a league record of four wins, two losses, and one tie, the girls shared the first place Suburban West Championship with rivals Lafayette and Parkway West.

With blazing serves and accurate returns, the Girls' Tennis Team successfully completed a winning season. With second-year coach Deborah Modde at the helm, Lindbergh finished 9 and 1 in league play and 13 and 2 overall.

The team, including first single player Jill Wolf, freshman, and the first doubles pair, Sylvia Teng and Diane Tomlinson, juniors, worked together smoothly for their victories. These included wins over league rivals Kirkwood and Mehlville. One of Lindbergh's losses came at the hands of Clayton, possibly the toughest competition all season. The other came against Parkway West, which was avenged later in the season. The players' output earned them first place in the Suburban West Conference and second place in the league tournament. With many players returning, Coach Modde expressed optimism for another good season in 1979.

Spectacular individual performances coupled with well-paired doubles play led the Lindbergh Boys' Tennis Team to victory in 1979. The Flyers were a well-balanced team of experienced players coordinated by first year coach Dale Eason. Serving powerfully and returning accurately, the team won consistently. The first singles position was held convincingly by Gregg Busch, while senior Chris Marziotti performed exceptionally well also. The first doubles team consisted of Marziotti and Jim Syrett, also a senior. Junior Randy Nistler and sophomore Andy Quevereaux battled their opponents in the second doubles position.

Fine performances at the district tournament, including an all Lindbergh doubles final, earned many players places in the state tournament. The team's success in 1979 placed them among the most respected in the St. Louis tennis ranks.

GOLF Girls Master Driving And Putting Skills

Mrs. Hope Lorch again led the Girl's Golf team to an outstanding season. Afternoon practices found the girls mastering driving and putting skills. With only six participants, the team proved they were small but also mighty. They defeated such teams as St. Joseph's, Parkway Central, and Ladue. The team showed its strength with a conference record of seven wins, three losses and an overall record of seven wins, five losses. Their excellent record brought them second place in the Surburban League Tournament.

The Most Valuable Player was senior Joyce Reed, who proved to be the teams biggest asset. Jill Bertram had the lowest handicap and helped her team cpture its title for 1978. Mrs. Lorch claimed pride in her golfing girls.

With a swish of a club, the Lindbergh Boys' Golf Team competed for high honors and low scores. The golfers fared well in dual meet competition with a respectable 10-4 record. The team also finished second to DeSmet in the District match. Although the team's toughest rounds came from Parkway West and Vianney, they looked forward to top out-state talent from Kansas City Rockhurst and Columbia Rockbridge.

The sixteen member squad was led by seniors Bob Gaus, John Mercutio, Bill Hulett and junior Monte Hawes. Coach Lou Lorch was very pleased with his top flight players including MVP Bob Gaus. The season was topped by 6th place performance at the State Tournament.

Dedication to strenuous practice helped Lindbergh Track achieve success in a competitive season. Although the weather was not always comfortable, the runners, shot putters, discus throwers, high and triple jumpers, and pole vaulters were always ready to compete.

The varsity team did not have any home meets, ut the freshmen and sophomore teams each sponsored home invitationals. The freshmen captured a second place, and the sophomores excelled with a first place at their invitational. Off their home track, each team displayed the best of their abilities.

Proof of these talents came in team placings at major season meets. Varsity took third at the Surburban West Relays, captured 4th at the Granite City South Invitational, and placed first in both the open and the relay competition at the Vianney Invitational. To top off the season, Bryan Blackford and Jim Bullard journeyed to the State competition where Bryan finished fifth in the two mile relay. Andy Gladstone also travelled to the state meet and proved his strength and talent by taking fourth in the discus competition.

Running to a 3-2 win — loss record, Girls' Track accomplished an outstanding season. In long and tiring practices, the girls worked hard to strengthen their team. The most amazing and inspiring aspects of Girls' Track included the girls' dedication, spirit of competition, and camaraderie. They really worked as a team.

This was especially evident in the district tournament where relay competition was emphasized. Three relay teams took first place, and the mile relay team took second place. Overall, Lindbergh won district with 111 points. This was the third time in four years that Lindbergh won the district tournament.

Throughout the season, two relay teams made consistent outstanding performances. The first was the 880-relay team made up of Nancy Willman, Tammy Hillmeyer, Laurie Bremehr and Vicki Grills. The two-mile relay team of Jackie Kruetz, Laura Nooter, Dawn Gooding, and Janet Daum proved their excellence by finishing first in district and second in state competition. Coaches Pourchot, Modde, and Kimker directed the team to outstanding wins and an enjoyable season.

Endurance, speed, and style were the winning factors in the success of Lindbergh's Girls' Swimming Team. Ms. Buckner coached the twenty-eight girl team and the combination brought them eleven wins and only three losses. Laura Wacker, the most valuable swimmer, won first place in state competition with a 500 meter free style victory. Other assets to he team were Donna Vorbeck, Christy McArthy, and Krean Kreutz. Beating arch rivel Kirkwood for the first time in four years showed the swimmers determination, teamwork, and skill in 1978-79.

Although they were not in the major leagues, the 1979 Baseball Flyers played each game as if they were contending for the pennant. Coach Gately led the team to one of its most outstanding seasons in recent years. The team gave Coach Gately his one hundredth victory as a coach during the season.

Offensive strength came from the exceptional hitting of Kevin Paulsell, Kirk Scott, and Blake Birchfield. Pitchers Joe Boever and Rick Reed kept opposition batters off balance. This combination of powerful hitting and outstanding pitching brought the team the 1979 District Championship and took the Flyers to state competition.

One season highlight came on May 12, 1979, when the team defeated the Fox Warriors, 3 to 0, at Busch Memorial Stadium. Over 100 Flyer fans crowded the stands to view the Flyer — Warrior and Cardinal — Atlanta Braves games on "Lindbergh-Day" at the ball park. This was the first time an LHS team ever played at Busch Stadium.

May 25, 1979, brought another memorable, but disappointing, game for Lindbergh baseball players and fans. The team travelled to Columbia, Missouri, hoping for a state championship, but the Flyers met an 8 to 4 defeat when they faced Springfield Hillcrest in the semi-finals. The team's most valuable player, Joe Boever was to be commended for twelve strike-outs and allowing only one earned run. He also hit a three-run home run, but even that could not make up for the team's disadvantage caused by six fielding errors.

Coach Gately, of course, was disappointed in the state loss, but, more importantly, he was happy with and proud of his team's performance throughout the season.

As the football team beat Number One, as Cross Country ran to a first in State, or as the Boys' Soccer Team became the Suburban West champions, the Lindbergh cheerleaders could be seen on the sidelines working to keep Flyer spirits high.

Besides first hour practices, the girls could be seen working after school on that special cheer for the Homecoming Bonfire or the LHS — Fox baseball game at Busch Stadium. Maybe they were also found decorating until midnight for the Turnabout Dance. Helping cheerleaders-to-be at try-out preparation clinics also claimed their time.

The Freshman, Junior Varsity, and Varsity Squads all showed that being a cheerleader is more than smiling and yelling at a game. They found that being a Lindbergh cheerleader meant backing a Flyer team in victory and trying even harder to maintain high spirits in defeat.

JUNIOR VARSITY: Row One: N. Braun, S. Thurston. Row Two: T. Riester, C. Brems, L. Weber, T. Piesbergen, G. Winkler, J. Walker, M. Link, S. Snelson, Captain; S. Bahn, J. Clampitt, L. Doerner, Co-captain; L. Kostadine.

POM PON

Squad Remains Superior With Crowd - Pleasing Performances

With fifteen new girls, the 1978-79 Pom-Pon Squad worked hard to maintain the Lindbergh pom-pon reputation of superior performances. Sponsors Mrs. Cole, Mrs. Hale, and Mrs. Summa, along with Linda Endebrock, captain; Sepa Carmona, co- captain; and Sue Weiting, secretary led the team through a season of exciting performances.

The girls performed regularly at home football and basketball games. Dressed as Disney characters, they entertained the homecoming game crowd for their most outstanding performance. On December 3, 1978, they joined other area squads for the halftime show at a Cardinal football game. They returned to Busch Stadium on May 12 to perform at the Lindbergh-Fox and Cardinal baseball games. Missouri student council members were entertained when the squad performed at the MASC Convention on March 15. They also placed second in competition at the Metropolitan Area Pom-pon Association Clinic on March 24.

The 1979 squad was often seen counting and kicking during first hour and in after-school rehearsals. These long practice sessions paid off though, for the girls carried out many crowd- pleasing performances throughout the year.

Enthusiasm, determination, and drive are three keys to the success of any team. Among the superb athletes that led their teams to victory this year were a few that were more outstanding than the rest. These competitors combined their talents with a will to win and to excel at their sport. For these reasons these athletes, the best Lindbergh had to offer in 1978-79, were proclaimed the most valuable players.

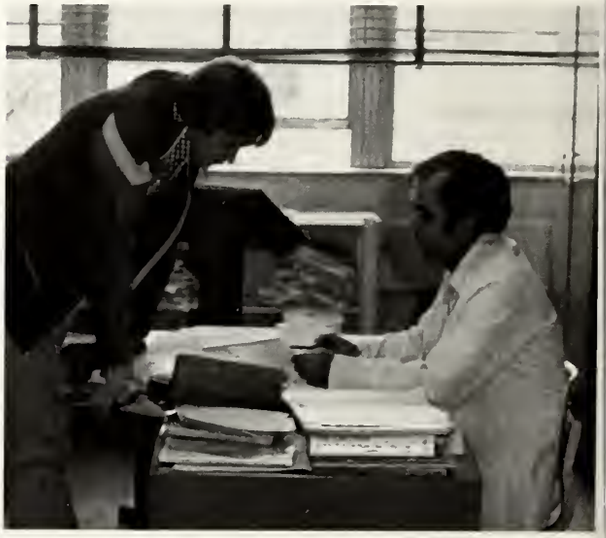
CLUB



Our lives are influenced by many things: our families, our friends, the media. In spending over seven hours a day at school, we also are influenced by our contacts at LHS, our teachers and administrators, along with our friends. These people have devoted their lives to helping us in not only our scholastic but also our social endeavors. Besides their time in the classroom, they devote many hours to grading papers, planning lessons, and continuing their own educations so that they can help us more in class, at a club meeting, during a deadline, or in a practice session. Dedicated to their jobs as educators, they continuously strive to lead us on to better futures.

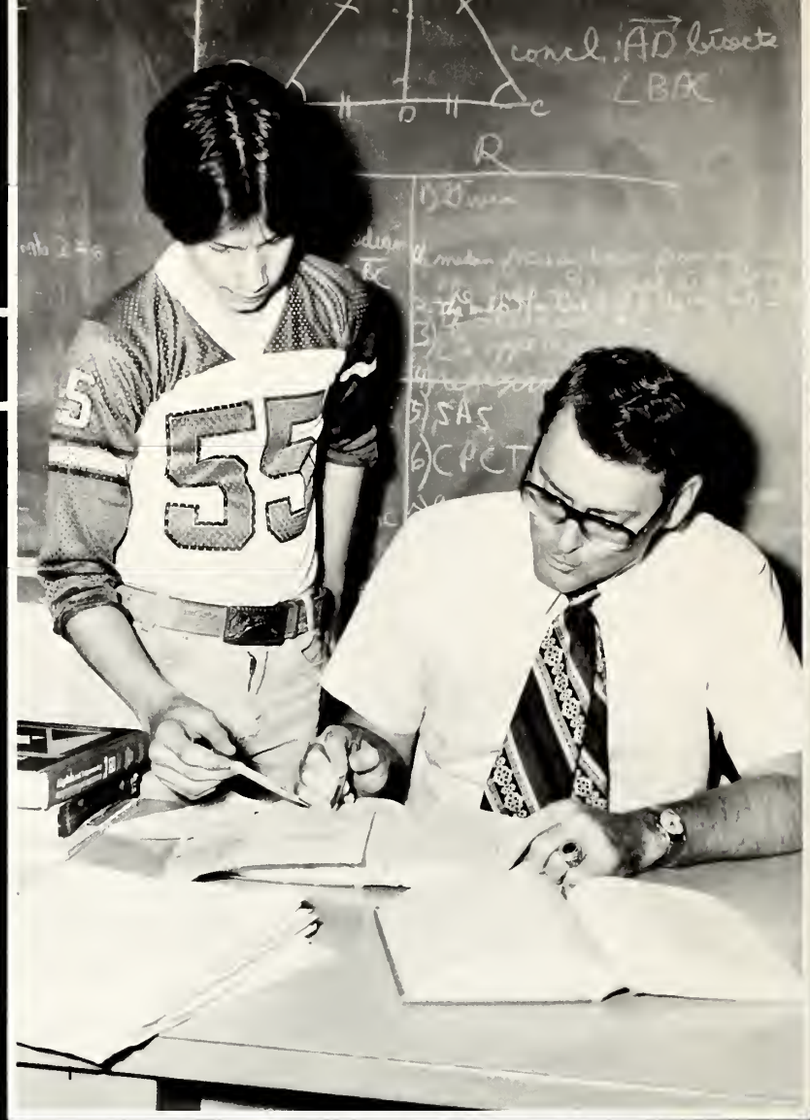
LEADING ON

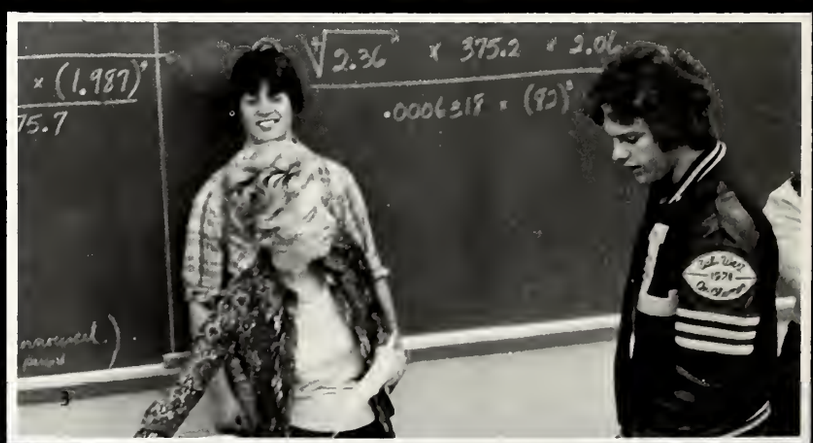
COMPUTATING

Lindbergh High School math students were challenged thoroughly through a wide variety of courses. The Math Department offered many classes ranging from General Mathematics to Advanced Placement Calculus which granted college credit.

A variety of math classes were available to meet the needs of many students. For the student not wishing to enter college, General Mathematics and Senior Math Refresher were popular choices. These classes offered the basic math skills used in daily life. The college-bound student had an array of choices. These included a succession of courses from Algebra to Calculus.

Algebra I and Geometry helped to develop skills in writing proofs and using inductive reasoning. Algebra II explored these aspects further while Trigonometry introduced more complex theory. For those who wished to take Calculus, Math Analysis was a useful preparatory class. Calculus, for the most advanced math students, offered many abstract theories and ideas to those wishing to pursue math careers. Computer classes were also available for those wishing to learn about programming and computer language. Through a variety of courses, the Math Department strived to meet students' diverse needs.





1. Brad Diederich and Mr. Burney work on a geometry problem from different angles.
2. Seniors try their skill at Advanced Placement Calculus.
3. Bill Kaufmann and Craig Todd discuss a difficult math problem with Mrs. Moore.
4. Ross Bledsoe and Barry Litszinger try their skillful mastery over the teletype machine in Computer Programming.

COMMUNICATING

Besides covering the basic grammar skills often associated with traditional English classes, the Language Arts Department offered students many exciting and challenging courses not always found in a typical English curriculum.

Communication Skills I concentrated on reviewing the grammar essentials covered in a students' first eight years of school introducing new writing techniques, and discovering Shakespeare through Romeo and Juliet. Freshmen in Communication Skills I prepared themselves for the great variety of courses available to sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Sophomores became better acquainted with such famous classics as Julius Caesar, Don Quixote and Cyrano de Bergerac. Unlike freshmen, tenth grade students were allowed to expand their fields of interest by taking independent study classes, Business English, and Drama.

Juniors were offered a wide variety of courses which suited all interests and abilities. They could read about life during the Roaring 20's, adventure and survival, or take American Literature. Some took advantage of the advanced placement program.

Seniors furthered their interests by taking courses ranging from Sherlock and the Super Sleuths to Philosophy. They also prepared themselves for the future by taking Grammar Refresher and College Prep. This course proved so popular that it was expanded to two semesters in 1978-79. Lindbergh alums, as well as college representatives guest lectured to give LHS seniors insights into college life. Students enrolling in the advanced placement program at the senior level earned college credit for their work.

Communication Skills did not stop with grammar and vocabulary skills, but gave students a chance to branch out to journalism, creative writing, radio announcing, speech, and acting. No matter what their interests were, students found many avenues to pursue in Language Arts.

DOMESTICATING

Whether they were munching down on freshly baked cookies, filling the halls and tantalizing the taste buds of fellow students with the aroma of home-made pizza, or putting the finishing touches on a hand made dress, home economics students kept busy learning about the domestic side of life.

The Home Economics Department offered a great variety of courses for beginners to advanced students interested in studies centered around home life. Nutrition, as well as experimenting with new recipes, was taught in cooking classes. Student seamstresses in sewing classes also learned about fabrics and style selection. In interior design, home furnishing was studied. Meanwhile, family relations and child development classes were concerned with raising a family and the physical, social, emotional, and intellectual growth of children.

Home economics classes were primarily centered around first hand experience, but film strips were also used extensively. Other activities which deviated from the normal school routine included a field trip to the Vanity Fair clothing exhibit at the art museum, hosting seasonal parties for children, and even adopting an egg as a make-believe child.

1. Susan Meyer prepares material and pattern for another outfit in clothing.
2. Mrs. Poston assists Anna Hailey, Sue Formhals, and Ray Massud as they work on needs, marriages, and crises in Family Relations.
3. Foods class students learn that cooking has its bad side-dirty dishes.

TRANSLATING

The importance of international relations and awareness of foreign cultures sparked students' interest in Lindbergh's 1978-79 foreign language program. Courses in beginning, as well as advanced, German, Spanish, French, Russian, and Latin were offered.

Methods of learning took many interesting forms. French and German students studied cultures and modes of life as they sampled their respective cuisines, performed skits and puppet shows, and observed foreign plays. Russian and Latin students acquainted themselves with famous novels from their lands of study. Foreign speakers at an assembly gave students a chance to inquire about their counter-parts in other lands.

Students, faculty members, and foreign language club members took several breaks from serious studies to unite in more fun social activities. They displayed athletic abilities as the five languages competed for the championship of an international soccer tournament in October and a volleyball tournament in May. The groups also got together to compare cultures at an international dinner featuring a course representing each nationality.

Foreign language students found in 1978-79, that by combining traditional learning methods with these experiences, they increased their knowledge of the world.

1. The language lab helps students master foreign language skills.
2. Mrs. Bryant illustrates that German is not so hard after all.
3. Students from different language classes unite at their international dinner.
4. Susan Meyer learns the do's and don'ts of gourmet cooking from the visiting chef in her French class.

RELATING

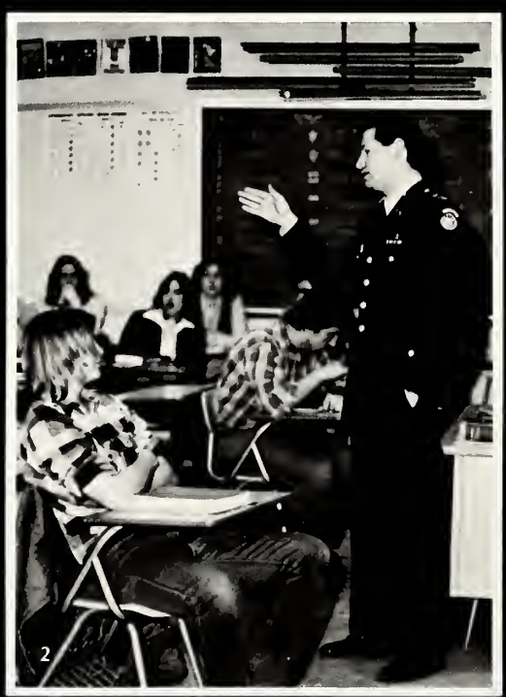
Students taking social studies courses this year were offered numerous alternatives for educational enrichment.

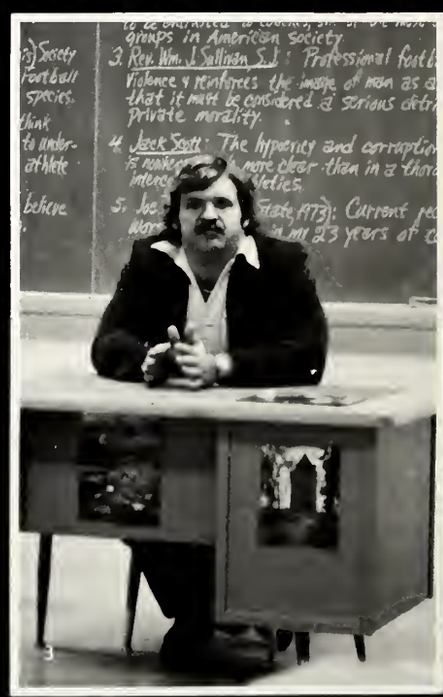
Freshmen chose between American Systems and American Citizenship. American Systems classes staged a court trial in late spring to learn about judicial skills and court room procedures.

Western Civilization Studies was offered to sophomores, interested in western world history and culture.

Missouri state education requirements demand that students complete American history before graduating; Lindbergh graduation requirements call for all juniors to take American history. Juniors enrolled in these classes in 1978-79 found teachers using various techniques, but most included formal lectures, library research and study, and class discussions.

Another social studies class greatly emphasizing discussion was Contemporary Issues, taken by seniors. Students were also encouraged to watch special TV programs and read newspapers or use other news media. Speakers in these classes included two army recruiters, two opposing speakers on Amendment 23 (Right to Work), two young Israeli students, Dan Dierdorf of the St. Louis Cardinals, and our own Coach Lema.





1. A Purple Lady from the National Cathedral in Washington, D.C. explains the significance of various points of interest to Mary Ellen Steck, Cathy Steck, and Marty Gormley on the Close-up trip to the Capital city.
2. A representative from the U.S. Army explains the military point of view to Mr. Cox's contemporary issues class.
3. Dan Dierdorf of the St. Louis Football Cardinals discusses the role of professional athletics with a Contemporary Issues class.
4. Bruce Cook and Chris Dahl try to work out a logic problem during their psychology class.

OPERATING

The LHS Business Department, whose goal was to bring the business world to the classroom, familiarized students with all facets of commerce, as well as office practices and procedures.

Several levels of typing were taught, while courses in shorthand and general clerical skills were also offered. Advanced students in these areas took Secretarial Practices in preparation for office work.

Business law and management courses prepared students for supervisory jobs in the business world, while other courses prepared them to be more cautious consumers. By analyzing the contents of Big Macs, among other products, and learning to read labels, students became better consumers. Accounting and business management covered marketing, retail sales, advertising, and the problems of keeping accurate books and records.

The Distributive Occupational Education and Cooperative Office Education programs gave students a chance to earn academic credit and money simultaneously. A stream of cars leaving school each day after fourth hour contained people who had gone to classes all morning and were on their ways to jobs. Credit was awarded on the basis of employers' evaluations.

Through the vast variety of courses offered, the Business Department reached many people at LHS and prided itself on providing a practical education.

CREATING

Art had many definitions and took many forms at Lindbergh. To humanities students, it meant the exploration of the ancient Egyptian civilization. To a pottery or sculpture student, it meant creating a masterpiece of his or her own.

The Art Department gave interested novices the chance to develop talents. Likewise, more experienced artists had the opportunity to expand and improve their drawing, painting, and crafts skills.

Some of the most popular courses offered included drawing, painting, crafts, sculpture, and pottery. These skills were put to use by students who designed, completed, and displayed their work throughout the year in the hallway cases and cafeteria.

Those interested in a study of ancient cultures found Humantities available to serve their purposes. First semester students explored the cultures of ancient Egypt up to Medivil man while second semester studies continued to twentieth century western man.

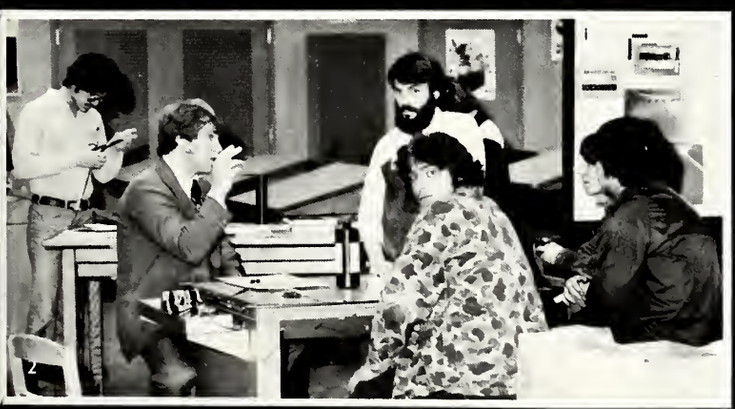
1. Student masterpieces decorate the room for this sculpture class.
2. Pottery is one of the more popular courses available for art credit.
3. The correct mixing of colors to get the right effect can be a time consuming job.
4. Mr. Harp helps correct a problem with hard-to-handle clay.

PRODUCING

Variety was the way of life in the Industrial Arts Department. In addition to woodworking, metals, and plastics, the department provided courses covering a myriad of other skills.

Students having a mathematical background explored electricity, while press-oriented students did layouts and composition in offset printing. Photo buffs had the opportunity to polish their hobby in a serious learning experience. Other classes such as architecture and drafting were also a part of the department's curriculum.

Industrial Arts at Lindbergh proved, in the 1978-79 school year, that this was a serious area of study. Besides providing courses that the non-academic, as well as academic student found interesting, this department encouraged the development of skills needed in daily life and various careers.



1. Proper alignment is a necessity to achieve a good, finished product
2. Mr. Love's printing class works on printing material used in other classes.
3. Mr. Schaefferkoetter oversees the use of power equipment in his power mechanics class.
4. Graphic arts stresses the use of various materials and methods to create a picture.

PLANNING

Many students think of their guidance counselor in only one respect: the person who helps plan schedules. However, the LHS Guidance Department's many duties in 1978-79 proved their value in the total education of students.

Besides assisting students with their schedules and graduation requirements, counselors had sympathetic ears for personal and school problems. The job placement program, run by the department, benefited countless students seeking part-time and summer work.

Juniors and seniors found the counselors more involved in their educations as the time to choose a career rapidly approached. A newly acquired job-oriented computer and career reference center helped familiarize students with over four hundred occupations. Likewise, guidance counselors advised students on career training.

The college-bound often sought their counselor's aid in selecting a college or university to attend. The guidance department advised students on entrance requirements, placement tests, and scholarships and financial aid.

The 1979 student found that no matter if his concern was school or non-school oriented, he could find assistance in the guidance office.

1. As head of the job placement program, Mrs. Biggs tries to help Chris Dahl find employment.
2. The college teletype machine is a big help to Mr. Beckman and the other counselors as they advise students about future educational plans.
3. Mr. Kallous emphasizes the importance of careful thought to students planning their schedules.
4. The guidance office has current college information on the University of Missouri and other schools available to juniors and seniors.

HARMONIZING

Lindbergh music students found many ways to involve themselves in active participation in a musical group or exploration of musical compositions and history. Many students furthered their knowledge and awareness of the music world by memberships in vocal or instrumental music groups.

The choirs entertained students and parents alike with concerts at Christmas and in the spring.

The instrumental part of the department consisted of several bands and the orchestra, all of which performed in numerous concerts throughout the year.

Both parts of the department also combined efforts for several Christmas and spring performances. Highlights of the year included the annual Night of Music, and performances for the M.A.S.C. convention.

Music appreciation and theory also provided interested students with the chance to view another aspect of music. Lindbergh's first musical, Li'l Abner, involving many teachers and music students and preparation for the new 1980 marching band also proved important activities for the music-minded at Lindbergh.

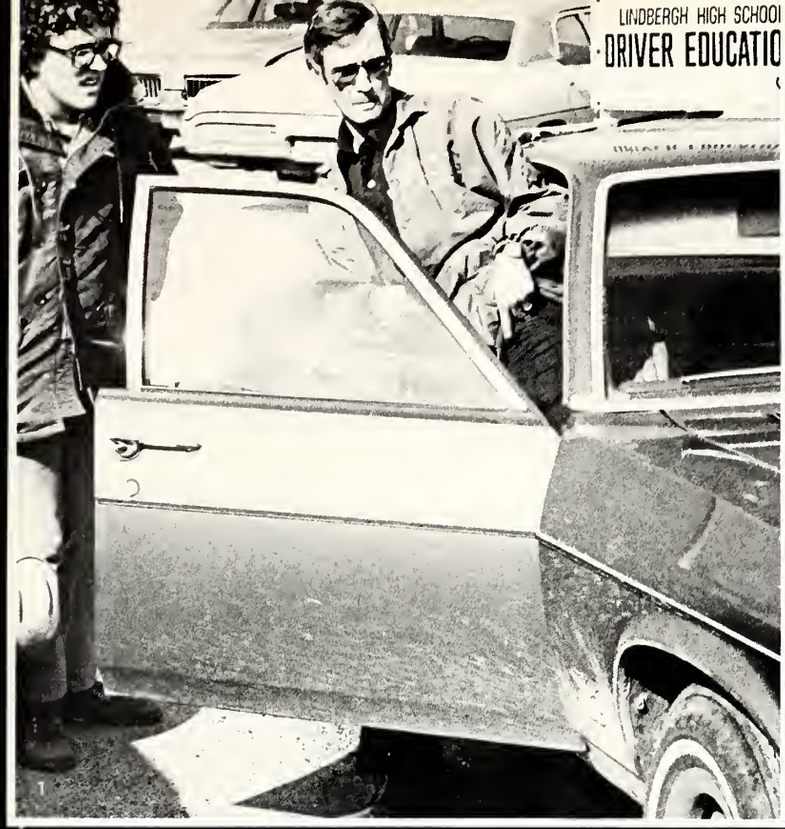
1. Music students in Concert Band II prepare for the Spring Concert.
2. Mrs. Vaughn stresses the importance of learning to read music to the Madrigal Singers.
3. The percussion section of Concert Band II practices keeping the beat for the rest of their class.
4. Led by Mr. Tobler, the Jazz Lab Band provides before-dinner entertainment for visiting delegates and LHS faculty members and administrators attending the Missouri Association of Student Councils Conference on March 15.

ANALYZING

Amateur scientists turned their curiosity into active experimentation with the many courses offered by the Science Department. Chemistry students learned about chemical properties and principles. Frequent labs gave them the opportunity to test these laws and apply theories. Physics classes explored the physical aspects of the world such as time, space and motion. Students geared toward medical careers learned anatomy through the dissection of various animals and the use of actual medical laboratory equipment. Students in animal behavior classes learned "animal psychology" by extensive research and behavioral experiments. Others were able to take a look into the future in bioethics by studying such topics as genetic tayloring, cloning and environmental affects on the human.

Guest speakers highlighted many classes and the department was on hand for the solar eclipse in March providing special telescopes and lenses for its viewing. The Science Department also furthered its support of the students through sponsorship of the Advanced Biology Club, the Chemistry Club and Future Medical Careers.

1. Pig dissection provides a first-hand learning experience in Mr. McCracken's athletic physiology class.
2. Mr. McCracken points out the muscular system of a pig to students doing an intricate dissection.
3. Students are taught the need for taking safety precautions when working with flammable chemicals.
4. Checking homework assignments is only one duty of Mrs. Cole, biology teacher.



MOTORIZING

For most students, one of the high points of high school meant turning the magic age of sixteen, and, in turn, getting the prized driver's licence. Lindbergh, providing an invaluable course for sophomores and some juniors, prepared students to be careful, aware, and perceptive drivers when they finally were ready to take their places among the driving ranks. The course included a thorough study of the Missouri Driver Guide. All aspects, such as vehicle safety, mechanics, drugs, and safety precautions, which affect driving were covered.

Students did not just stop with theories, they learned car maintenance from inside to out-from spark plugs to tires. As an extended exploration, student's researched every expense that could be expected for running and maintaining a car of their choice. They put their results of their findings in an extensive term paper.

After studying driving procedure from the text, students moved on to the second best thing-the simulators. These "substitute vehicles" gave students the feel of the road and simultaneously kept track of the driver's performance by using automatic scoring techniques.

But driver's education students were not satisfied to stop their training there; they took to the road! Each student driver was required to have a minimum of three hours of actual driving experience behind the wheel. Many students were nervous when they got in the driver's seat for the first time, but the jitters soon faded away as increasingly confident drivers became proficient at such skills as lane changes, highway driving, and parallel parking. Upon completion of this course, students received a Missouri State Driver Education Certificate.

1. The large number of students taking driver education requires Mr Dell and members of his classes to stay after school to find adequate driving time.
2. Mr Brooks explains the different types of insurance and their advantages and disadvantages
3. During their eighty three hours in the classroom, students are instructed on traffic signs, signals, and precautions

ENERGIZING

The Lindbergh Physical Education Department provided a break from a student's academic load. At the same time, it developed valuable talents and positive attitudes toward fitness.

Students chose from a variety of athletic activities from folk dancing to baseball and water polo. Each class included not only physical participation in the specific sport, but a study of rules, strategy and proper techniques.

Some students went for outdoor activities such as track, tennis, soccer, and archery, while others took advantage of indoor equipment in weight lifting, gymnastics, trampoline, and swimming.

A year of physical education is a graduation requirement for all LHS students, but many found it a valuable experience and continued on taking more P.E. courses.

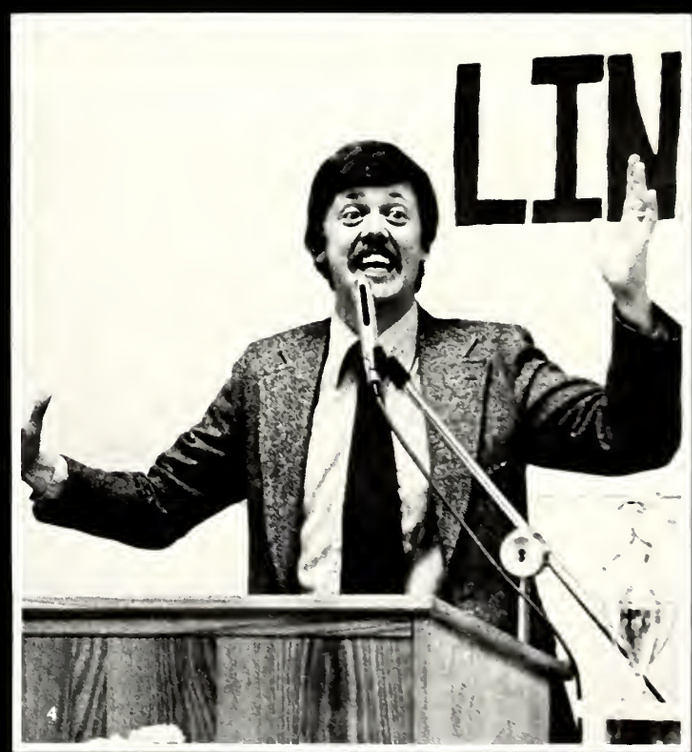
As well as a variety of sports, physical education also offered different levels so beginners, as well as advanced, could receive proper instruction according to ability.

1. Mr. Beezley finds that P.E. teachers must sometimes double as nurses.
2. A rainy spring forces girls' softball classes into the g-m to practice.
3. Tennis class provides a break from the school day routine and a way to fulfill and the required P.E. credit.
4. With the emphasis on equal rights, boys also take volleyball, a sport formerly stressed in the girls' classes.

SOCIALIZING

Students and teachers alike have been conditioned to respond in a robot-like manner. A bell rings, and students file into a classroom. Another bell rings, and the teacher takes attendance. The next fifty-five minutes are spent with the teacher talking while the students listen, the teacher asking questions while the students answer, or the teacher supervising while the students read, write, or do arithmetic. This routine learning pattern goes on in classroom after classroom, hour after hour, day after day.

Lindbergh had its share of routine procedures in 1978-79; however, students and faculty members were living proof that learning goes beyond book work. By interacting with others after class, over lunch, on an athletic field, or at an after-school activity, they discovered interesting facets of other peoples' personalities. They learned the meaning of friendship and cooperation.



1. Chaperoning the Turnabout Dance is not all work for Mrs. Cole.
2. Mr. McGuffey bets Mr. Dougan that he can't eat just one.
3. Upon finishing a dinner of French delicacies at the French Club Dinner, Dr. Pridy and Mrs. Gleich await the evening's entertainment.
4. Always enthusiastic about cross country, Coach McCracken discusses the year's highlights at the team's annual banquet.

We find that being a part of Missouri's largest high school, being one of 3600 students, is not an intimidation, but rather a challenge and an opportunity to meet more people and expose ourselves to different life styles. We form our own circle of friends and are quick to label others as "soc" or "burn-out" because of the ways they dress or the things they like to do. But, as we get to know these other people, we find that we have some things in common, and we are more alike than we realized. Thus, we discover the meanings of words like understanding, cooperation, consideration, and friendship.

As students, we assume many roles. We learn together as classmates, work together as teammates, socialize together as acquaintances, and share together as friends. All of us find that in the four years we spend here, we not only just pass through the halls of LHS, but we also learn to see each other as individuals while we strengthen our own individuality.

PASSING THROUGH

FRESHMEN

As we began our high school years, we found ourselves contemplating our past and anticipating our future. Old friends eased our first days at Lindbergh, while new friends and experiences filled each moment. As we progress, we hope that these events of the past will enhance our individuality.

SOPHOMORES

As we began our sophomore year, we found maturity through the new challenges we faced. Our second year at Lindbergh was highlighted by attending formal dances, acquiring a first job, and driving the family car. We were preoccupied with growing up. Through our responsibilities, we gained insight into the future.

THE OLD MEETS THE NEW IN '79

A person walking through the halls of Lindbergh in 1978-79 saw many different styles displayed by fashion-minded students.

After twenty-five years, rolled up Levis once again emerged in the corridors. The fashions in 1978-79 had slimmer, cleaner lines: jeans were tighter, and slimmer skirts with slits appeared on the campus.

Cowboy hats, white, black, and brown, topped the heads of Lindbergh students. Brightly colored down jackets and vests protected them from severe winter weather. Gym shorts were worn for style and comfort in social settings, as well as in athletic endeavors. Dickies became very popular and appeared in several sharp colors. Crew neck sweaters with shirt collars tucked in were sported by LHS students.

Shirts and sweaters were dressed up with different accessories. Many students wore shirts with rounded collars. Girls and boys both were in style when they wore shirts with short stand-up collars. Fish net, mesh, and silk scarves also added to various tops. Gold and silver snake belts also gave shirts and sweaters style. Long and short gold chains topped off any number of outfits. Clutch purses — leather and canvass remained popular.

Shoes were also an important part of the fashion scene at LHS. Topsiders were worn with pants for the casual look. Candies, slip-on, spike-heeled shoes, were worn for the dressy and disco look. Ankle bracelets also focused attention on the legs. Monstrous hiking boots gained popularity among both sexes.

Even though public figures frequently dictated the popular styles of the day, the general rule was to be yourself. The 1978-79 school year saw old combined with new so that people, looked and felt their best.

JUNIORS

Although this was the hardest year in high school, it was the most challenging. Despite American History, we enjoyed being upperclassmen. Through our hard work, we strengthened our individuality. As we watched another graduation, we realized our senior year was quickly approaching.

SPIRIT OF '79

1978-79 brought an expansion of social activities at Lindbergh. Instead of spending time at McDonald's or Happy Joe's, students were involved in school activities such as Hangar Dances, Donkey Basketball, and the Homecoming Bonfire. Many found television more relaxing with the addition of "Mork and Mindy" and "Battlestar Galactica" to the programming schedule. Superman, Animal House, and Grease drew large numbers of movie-going students to the local theatres. After the Three-Mile Island accident in Pennsylvania, interest in nuclear energy grew and the China Syndrome enjoyed increasing popularity

Steve Martin, Billy Joe, Styx, Toto, and many of the new disco stars gained recognition in the record world. The new songs were played frequently on the popular radio stations: KSLQ, KSHE, KADI, KWK, AND KLSR. Many students flocked to the "Time Machine" and "Gabriel's" for a night of disco dancing. This fad brought about new hair, cosmetics, and clothing styles. Thus, 1978-1979 witnessed many new fashions and fads.

1. Julie Toler displays the rolled look in blouses.
2. Grease, combining the nostalgia for the '50's with the disco craze of the '70's, is a 1979 box office hit.
3. Mike Bonham expresses his likeness for Billy Joel.

1. Mrs. Vaughn exhibits the textured look in nylons.
2. Vicky Kastor sports a fashionable 1979 hair-do, the permed look.
3. Down vests and LHS windbreakers are popular 1979 fashions.
4. The clutch pin and hair clip are brought back into fashion.
5. Disco mania rages on the dance floor and in fashions.
6. Crew neck sweaters, suspenders, and shiny raincoats create excitement among LHS students.

SENIORS

We laughed, learned, and shared. We made friends that will always hold a special place in our memories.

We learned to stand on our own, yet friends were never far when things really got rough.

Together, we worked hard trying to reach our common goals, but perhaps more importantly, each one of us achieved our own individual goals.

Lindbergh Hosts M.A.S.C. Convention

Student Council members returning from the 1978 Missouri Association of Student Councils Conference proudly announced that Lindbergh had been elected 1979 M.A.S.C. President. Along with this honor came the job of hosting the 1979 Conference, an undertaking of greater magnitude than many ever anticipated.

Hosting the conference required not only the hard work of dedicated student council members but also the cooperation of the entire school district. Thirteen committees, supervised and coordinated by Mr. McGuffey, student council sponsor; Amy Burr, presiding M.A.S.C. chairperson; and Terri Abernathy, student council president; were formed. Their jobs were to arrange housing, entertainment, meals, transportation, and meeting places for the 1200 delegates from all corners of Missouri. Lindbergh students from every grade and social group on campus helped with housing and entertainment. Administrators and faculty members also helped with housing and committee supervision. Drama Club, KLSR members, pompon girls, the Stage Band, and athletes from various sports teams also devoted time to entertaining the visitors.

The M.A.S.C. Conference brought a new enthusiasm to Lindbergh. Many people worked hard to make it a success. Their efforts were rewarded with the appreciation visitors expressed and their own feelings of pride for a job well done.

2. Amy Burr, M.A.S.C. chairperson, presides over the opening meeting.
3. Mr. McGuffey has a talk with Mickey, Student Council's gift of appreciation for his dedication as their sponsor.
4. Student Council members transform LHS into a convention center.

1. Terri Abernathy assumes many responsibilities, including the work involved in hosting a convention, during her term as student council president.
2. Mrs. Martha Hicks, M.A.S.C. executive secretary, recognizes LHS students and advisors.

3. Decorations provide a diversion from the job of hosting a convention.
4. Refreshments and entertainment are provided to make visitors feel welcome.
5. Seven Kitchens Restaurant is a resting place for those attending the dance held at South County Shopping Center.

Baseball Goes To Busch

Enthusiasm ran high as Flyer fans took their spirit to Busch Memorial Stadium to watch the LHS Baseball Team battle the Fox Warriors on May 12. This event, sponsored by the Cardinal organization, was open to the two schools successful in selling over 1,200 tickets.

Fans began arriving early to watch both teams take batting and field practice. Team spirit was displayed by each school as their high school names were spelled out in the top section of the stadium. Lindbergh was additionally supported when the Symphonic Band and Pom Pon Girls performed in a pre-game show.

The game followed at 4:30 and proved to be an exciting contest. The Flyers emerged victorious, beating the Warriors by a score of 3 to 0. Pitching was a major LHS strength with the skills of Joe Boever and Rick Reed. With strong hitting and fielding other players such as Blake Birchfield, Dave Mach, Kirk Scott, and Kevin Paulsell helped gain the win. The Lindbergh victory proved enjoyable to Flyer fans who stayed to later watch the Cardinals and Atlanta Braves.

They're Out For Blood

In February, many concerned (and perhaps slightly apprehensive) students took time from classes to donate blood at the annual Red Cross Bloodmobile. Over 100 pints of blood were donated, setting a record over last year. Students over 17, weighing at least 100 pounds and in general good health took part in the blood drive. After answering questions, filling out forms, and having their temperatures taken, donors laid on tables as Red Cross nurses attended to them. Finally, after the ordeal was over, students were treated to refreshments and received a blood donor's card. With the help of sponsors Mr. McGuffey and Mr. Pourchot, Kim Kilpatrick, volunteer coordinator; volunteers workers and donors, the blood drive proved an overall success.

Freshmen nervously entered Gym I as nursing students from Deaconess Hospital calmed the fearful students. On November 5, 1979, the American Heart Association skillfully measured the rising blood pressure of L.H.S. freshmen. With the inner tube-like bands would around their arms, the students soon discovered that the only harmful effect was possibly finding out they had high blood pressure.

The past four years have held a myriad of experiences for the class of 1979. These helped us to learn, grow, and mature into the individuals we are today. The challenges were never ending, but we were determined as we worked our way to graduation. Now, as we receive the final rewards of a coveted diploma and recognition, we look back over the past four years; we look back at our goals, achievements, and friendships.

EDITORS' NOTE

The 1978-79 SPIRIT was a combination of timeless traditions interlocked with the changes that made this year unlike any other before it.

Many people at Lindbergh sought many diverse goals in high school. We tried to illustrate how each of us reached our individual goals, while we still found a common link that bound us all together. In forming the SPIRIT, we have tried to accurately record names, faces, activities, and clubs that made us a part of LHS. Yet more importantly, we attempted to capture the thoughts, attitudes, and memories of every Lindbergh student.

We hope when you look back at this book, you will see a reflection of yourself --- your friends, your attitudes, the times you lived in, and the good times you had.

Good Luck,

Bart Hildreth, Julie Toler
1979 SPIRIT Co-Editors-in-Chief
